

Tom Brimberry—not the ordinary 'rags to riches' story

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

A "rags to riches" story not yet fully told will continue to unfold this summer when Thomas R. Brimberry is summoned to the second of what could prove to be three trials of his conduct.

Although he did succeed in attaining some of his goals in life, his career is not the kind that could be cited as an inspirational example to others.

In the mid-1970s he tied his star to the fortunes of the Stix & Co. stock brokerage and both seemed to soar upward endlessly.

But the brokerage has been defunct since November 1981. And its ill and unhappy operations senior vice-president has been behind bars since December 1982. Where did he go wrong, aside from breaking a law here and there?

The first rule of conduct for felons who spend large illicit funds is to maintain a low profile: Go out and have an expensive meal, but don't pay for it by check and don't take your Internal Revenue Service agent with you.

From an $8,000 a year margin clerk (prosecutor Clifford Proud called it "a low-level back-office job" at Stix), the former Granite Cityan amassed wealth that enabled him to take groups of a dozen or so friends and relatives on chartered flights to faraway places like Las Vegas, Hawaii, the Bahamas and Monte Carlo.

He provided money for some of the guests' gambling, bought costly baubles, and built an ostentatious "million-dollar mansion" on Parkview Drive.

Wise enough to have most of his cash "laundered," and to get other persons to carry big sums through baggage inspection, Brimberry unwisely cut most too wide a swath not to be noticed.

He also got into disputes with several persons, one or more of whom may have alerted the IRS.

After being caught, he talked about the "stupidity" of Securities and Exchange Commission personnel, claimed to have outwitted them many times, and predicted he eventually will assemble another fortune. (He denied that he has up to $2,800,000 tucked away somewhere.)

Another mistake, as determined by a jury in the court of Federal Judge William Beatty last week, was to not completely live up to the deal that he obtained nearly 19 months ago. He is now awaiting sentencing at high noon June 24 for obstructing justice.

Under the original plea-bargaining arrangement with Uncle Sam, Brimberry, now 39, was to be named only in a single income tax felony charge and was to serve only several years in prison at most—providing, however, that he henceforth spoke all the truth and nothing but the truth whenever asked for explanations.

SEC and IRS lawyers and agents bided their time, and sorted out precisely who they believed had done what to whom and under which circumstances. They monitored Brimberry's and other suspects' actions and comments closely, and then sought a series of indictments and trials that so far has had almost total prosecutorial success. Six men face imprisonment; one woman has been granted immunity, and other persons who were investigated have not been charged.

Two giant parades that kick off the 17th annual Anad Shrine Circus that will be in Belleville, June 4 and 5 and in Granite City, June 7, 8 and 9 are in near readiness and will bring out thousands of viewers of all ages, predicts a Shrine spokesman.

The first parade will be Friday night June 3, starting at 8 p.m. in downtown Belleville, where the average crowd exceeds 40,000 people annually. The parade this year will be dedicated to the memory of Noble Norman Ackermann of that city, who had been parade chairman for the past 17 years prior to his death.

Circus Chairman Gene Morris, Temple chief rabban, says that they will have more floats than usual and Parade Chairman Steve Krause believes this will be the best ever held.

The cooperation of the city of Belleville's mayor and police department has made it easy to see that every one gets a place along the line of March, and there have never been any accidents because of fine crowd control, Krause noted.

The circus will open Saturday at 2:30 at the Belle Clair Fairgrounds, then a 7:30 p.m. show will be given that night and the circus will reappear on Sunday, June 5, with the same schedule.

The Anad Circus then moves to Granite City for a large parade on Monday night, June 6, with Bob Ashcraft as parade chairman, and he has more than 130 units ready to go.

The Granite City Circus will play at the Tri-City Speedway on Route 203

(Nameoki Road). The shows there are Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings at 7:30 p.m., June 7 to 9. The show will finish on Friday and Saturday, June 10 and 11, at the DuQuoin State Fairgrounds.

The annual parade in Granite City is expected to attract several thousand spectators, primarily along Madison Avenue and Nameoki Road.

The parade will follow last year's route, assembling at Niedringhaus Avenue and State Street and begin the march at 7:30 p.m. Monday.

Floats, bands, marchers and motorized units will go east onto Madison Avenue, then northeast to the 3000 block near Granite City High School South, then turn northwest on Nameoki Road to disband on the school's parking lots.

Arrest in jailbreak try

A Granite City man who allegedly attempted to break into the Madison County Jail Sunday to help a prisoner or prisoners escape custody, county authorities announced.

Lawrence Irons, 41, who also uses the name Lawrence R. Butts and lists addresses in the 1300 block of 19th St. and the 2100 block of Bryan Ave., was arrested by detectives and sheriff's deputies near the jail at 9:30 p.m. Sunday after he allegedly tried to gain access to the roof, but failed.

According to a felony informational document, Irons allegedly was attempting to help Harold Jeffries, who was in prison for an armed robbery at the Schnucks Grocery Store here, escape from the jail.

Jeffries was charged Wednesday with solicitation and conspiracy to escape. He was awaiting sentencing on the armed robbery conviction.

Another person arrested with Irons apparently made no attempt to break in and was released, authorities said.

Detectives received information last week that Irons might be attempting a break-in and he was placed under surveillance. The information did not include when or how the break-in might occur.

Irons was followed by detectives when it became evident that he was driving to Edwardsville, authorities said.

He was charged with attempting to aid an escape in a warrant signed by Circuit Judge P. J. O'Neill.

Wolf making final push to reorganize the sanitary district

By NANCY WEIL
of the Press-Record

Representatives from Madison and St. Clair counties are battling each other openly in Springfield about legislation that would restructure the Metro-East Sanitary District.

The bill, sponsored by State Rep. Sam Wolf (D-Granite City) allows Madison and St. Clair county board chairmen to dismiss appointed MESD commissioners, establish salaries of board members and changes the provisions for the executive director.

But Rep. Wyvetter Young, D-East St. Louis, believes the proposal is unconstitutional and successfully fought the bill last week by calling for verification of the roll call after the initial vote was taken.

The bill then lost by six votes because several representatives who either voted for the proposal or voted present had left the chambers.

Wolf, however, remains undaunted and told the Press-Record he will continue trying to get the legislation through the House.

Mrs. Young's move apparently disturbed Wolf, who also has proposed legislation that would split the district along county lines. That bill is presently in interim study and Wolf indicated it could be removed from that process at any time and placed on the calendar.

Because legislators from the MESD counties "cannot get along" to pass what Wolf believes is a necessary bill, "maybe it would be best to split the district," he said.

MESD President Walter "Shang" Greathouse agrees with Wolf and, in fact, had significant input when the disputed bill was formulated. "I'm sitting here every day and I know what this place needs," Greathouse said.

Two major areas seem to concern Greathouse. First, MESD owns 5,000 surplus acres of land which it currently cannot legally sell. The district also is prohibited from purchasing land.

When the district tried to give land to the Department of Conservation in exchange for other acreage, Greathouse and the board of commissioners learned they were not allowed to conduct such land transactions.

Both Greathouse and Wolf believe the restriction is unfair and say that between 1,500 and 2,000 acres of land owned by MESD could be easily sold.

MESD must spend time and money to maintain the property which, if sold, could be placed back on the tax rolls, Wolf said.

Secondly, MESD cannot presently issue revenue bonds—something that might be necessary if the Environmental Protection Agency forces the district to build a secondary treatment facility at the Landsdowne Treatment Plant.

Greathouse said the EPA wants MESD to start building the facility within "nine or 10 months," placing the district in a "very terrible, predicament" because it is lacking funds for the project. "I'm caught between. The EPA is here with a gun at my head saying 'you're gonna do it,'" Greathouse said.

There is a strong possibility that MESD will decide to utilize the Granite City Wastewater Treatment Plant, but if Landsdowne continues to be used, the secondary facility will have to be constructed, the EPA has told the district.

Mrs. Young, however, cited other

Venice votes for cable

By VALERIE EVENDEN
of the Press-Record

After listening to various cable television proposals and debating the propositions over a period of several months, the Venice City Council made a relatively quick decision at Tuesday night's meeting and granted the city's cable TV franchise to Cybernetic Communications (CyCom), Inc. of Oklahoma City.

After some discussion of rates and other guarantees offered by Tele-National Communications—whose vice president of operations, Harrison Flora, addressed the council May 17—the aldermen agreed by unanimous vote to pass an ordinance on first reading awarding the franchising contract to CyCom.

None of the three firms which sought the franchise was present at this week's session. However, Ellis Green, an aide to Mayor Riley Owens of Centerville, which has contracted its cable system to TeleNational Communications of Pensacola, Fla., was in the audience.

In an appearance before Venice council members May 3, CyCom President Greg Bucy agreed to abide by an ordinance originally awarded to CATV Systems, including a provision that grants to the city five percent of the gross revenue from subscribers.

Late Wednesday, Venice City Attorney Lawrence Hartman reported contacting Bucy in Oklahoma City and said the CyCom president verbally reaffirmed his commitment to provide cable TV to Venice.

An original ordinance awarded the franchise to CyCom.

Epilepsy—understanding is the best aid

By NANCY WEIL
of the Press-Record

Not long ago, epilepsy was treated as a mental condition and its victims were locked away in institutions. Those afflicted were not educated and eventually took on characteristics of retardation. Women often were sterilized and not allowed to marry, if they had epilepsy. A new program at St. Elizabeth Medical Center is designed to prevent such misconceptions and treat the disease as a disease.

Within this century, victims of epilepsy have been treated inhumanely and, in fact, still live with a cruel burden upon them by society's lack of education about the disease.

Often, epileptics have higher life and medical insurance premiums. Many of them are not allowed to drive. It is a defenseless, but not hopeless, disease.

And, it could happen to anyone, says Brenda Fabick, a case manager for the Southwestern Illinois Epilepsy Association, which hopes to alter the myths surrounding the disease. Help has come from the Granite City Jaycees, who have given $10,000 to begin an epilepsy clinic at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

The Jaycees became interested in the project through Anita and Colin Hahne. He is a Jaycee. The Hahnes have two daughters with epilepsy.

Anita Hahne placed a lot of blame on herself when their daughter, Jennifer, who is now 12, first displayed symptoms of epilepsy. The blame was as uncontrollable as Jennifer's disease.

Watching a straight-A child, who has always been bright, lower her standards because other children are cruel to her is not an easy thing to take. Jennifer Hahne, affected partially by the medicine she must take to control her seizures and partially by a diminishing self-esteem, has not had an easy life for one so young.

When Jenny switched schools, she found that the children at her new school—which the Hahnes have requested be nameless—were not so understanding as the friends she had before.

Her old friends helped her. Being the "new kid" in school is never easy, but for Jenny, it became almost unbearable. She was not allowed to participate in anything. No field trips. No sports. No helping the class decorate the room for Christmas, lest she fall from a desk during a seizure.

The Hahnes decided to fight for their daughter's rights. Mrs. Hahne went to an epileptic association meeting and met others who knew through what the family was going.

Jenny now plays basketball at school. The coach said, "So?" when informed that Jenny has epilepsy.

Mrs. Fabick and the Hahnes want that unconcerned response to be the norm.

Epilepsy is not, they say, a disaster. It is something that victims, families and friends should deal with.

A neurological disorder, epilepsy can begin with a bump to the head, a pinched nerve or a high fever. Meningitis and encephalitis might cause epilepsy.

As in the case of the Hahne children, it also can be hereditary. Mrs. Hahne traced the family history and found that epilepsy—or epileptic-type symptoms—have existed in every other generation, but only among female offspring.

The initial cause is often difficult to detect because the disease might not appear until years later.

Dr. Robert H. Griffiths of Charleston, Ill., will deliver the commencement address to the 1983 class of the Southern Illinois University School of Dental Medicine on Saturday, June 4.

The program is scheduled to begin with a concert at 8:30 a.m. in Meridian Ballroom of the University Center on the Edwardsville campus, with ceremonies to follow at 10 a.m.

In addition to serving as the president of the American Dental Association in 1981-82, Dr. Griffiths was president-elect, 1980-81, and treasurer, 1979-80.

He also held all the major offices of the Illinois State Dental Society during the early 1970s.

STEAL MAGAZINES

Six girlie-type magazines worth $22 were taken in a burglary reported Monday at the Flash Cube, 3258 Nameoki Road. An old tie rod apparently was used to break a display window and gain access to the magazines. An unsuccessful attempt also was made to kick in the door glass, reports said.

TAKE U.S. FLAG

A malicious thief beat a flagpole down to the ground and stole a U.S. flag on Memorial Day. The pennant was flying outside the Gilchoff and Wallis law offices, 1561 Johnson Road.

Memorial Services at Venice Post 307

Memorial Day Services were held on the lawn at the Venice-Madison American Legion Post 307 Monday at 10:30 a.m. attended by approximately 100 area residents.

Kenneth Hinson, post adjutant, served as master of ceremonies for the event. Post 307 Color Guard and Boy Scout Troop One presented the flags followed by the Star Spangled Banner.

Prayer was given by Miss Dorothy Hinson, Unit 307 secretary and Post Commander Sam Mang introduced guests and various groups present.

Senior Vice-Commander of the 22nd District Charles Creamer delivered a Memorial Day speech.

Wreaths were placed at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier by Unit 307 officers.

Diana Scherrills, president, Hazel Poznaniak, chaplain, Eleanor Weber, sergeant-at-arms, and Lorella Zeigler, Gold Star Chairman.

A wreath was also placed at the John F. Kennedy Memorial by Gary Lake, an ROTC member, followed by the flag raised to full staff by members of the ROTC group of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, while Taps were played.

Honored at the gathering was Mrs. Jimmie Maze of Madison, a Gold Star mother.

After the ceremonies, coffee and donuts were served by the auxiliary and at noon a barbecue party, with music, was hosted on the patio at the post home, compliments of the American Legion Post.

Taco-eating contest aids March of Dimes

The March of Dimes, in conjunction with Tacos Mexican American Restaurants, will be holding a Taco-O-Thon (taco eating contest) Saturday from 2 to 3:30 p.m.

Contestants are required to attain pledges for each taco eaten in a 15-minute period. A minimum number of five sponsors is requested. Prizes include a taco party at the winner's home for 20 people plus $20 for beverages, dinners for four, digital watches, pocket calculators and pinatas.

The contest will be at Tacos, 102 Edwardsville Road, Wood River, and 3900 Nameoki Road, Granite City.

Contestants may register at either location or call 878-8267.

House approves bills to reform utilities

The Illinois House last week overwhelmingly approved a comprehensive package of legislation to provide significant utility reform.

The 17-bill package, which was backed by Speaker Michael J. Madigan and the Democratic majority of the House, will enact reforms designed to combat the skyrocketing cost of utilities.

"This is a balanced, well-thought-out approach to utility reform that will help protect consumers against needless rate increases without adversely affecting the state's business climate," State Rep. Wyveter Young (D-East St. Louis) said.

The cornerstone of the package is the Citizens Utility Board, which will represent consumers on rate cases before the Illinois Commerce Commission. Voluntary contributions from consumers would support a professional staff which would review rate hike requests and challenge unnecessary requests.

Other provisions include: —Winter shutoffs — Prohibit shutoffs between Dec. 1 and March 31 if the customer has shown a desire and method of payment.

—Advertising costs — Prohibit inclusion of promotional advertising costs in the rate base. —Transportation costs — Prohibit utilities from automatically passing on the cost of importing Western coal to Illinois.

—Construction Work in Progress — Eliminate inclusion of CWIP in rate base.

—Open meetings — Require ICC to hold deliberations in public; and —Tenant's rights — Protect tenants against shutoffs if landlords fail to pay utility bills.

VEHICLE VANDALIZED
Ronald A. Rowden, 2253 Dawn Place, reported to Madison County sheriff's deputies Sunday at 11:30 a.m. that a CB radio, equalizer, AM-FM radio, cassette player and 13 cassette tapes were stolen from his vehicle.

Understanding epilepsy

might be subtle. Brief staring periods where the person appears to be day-dreaming, sleepwalking, wandering aimlessly, picking at clothing and mumbling are symptoms, Mrs. Fabick says.

Then there are the seizures, which have caused the myths and misunderstandings. Seizures are frightening to see. There is a helplessness that comes over those who witness an epileptic seizure. The first reaction is to do something: shake the person; hold the person; call the police, call an ambulance.

But the only thing that should be done is nothing, other than making certain the person is not choking on his tongue or has not injured himself when he fell down, Mrs. Fabick points out. Aside from that, the victim should be left alone until the seizure subsides.

Muscles become tense during a seizure — so much so that it could be dangerous to try and grab the person. An epileptic, even a young victim, can strike out with enough force if provoked during a seizure, because they have no control of themselves.

Often, there is a feeling of disorientation following a seizure, particularly of the "grand mal" variety. Epileptics might want to rest or sleep after a seizure.

Convulsions, in a rhythmic, twitching manner, might be a part of the seizure. Epileptics also might foam at the mouth during an attack.

Psycho-motor epilepsy, which Jenny has, is complicated and difficult to control, sometimes causing many seizures in just one day. Controllable epilepsy, which the younger Hahne daughter has, is not so difficult.

Epileptics enter a void when a seizure occurs, after which they do not remember what has happened, Mrs. Fabick says.

Most of them, unless they've seen someone else have one, do not know what it looks like when they have a seizure. As part of her counseling and education work, Mrs. Fabick shows a film in which an epileptic has a seizure. Often, she says, epileptics are surprised when they see the film.

But the film is one necessary step in the process of educating epileptics, their families, friends and the public about the disease. Surprisingly, families and friends of epileptics — and the victims themselves — often become entrenched in the myths.

Adjusting can be difficult Mrs. Fabick and Mrs. Hahne explain. The top priority is to convince epileptics and their families that the disease is not a source of embarrassment, is not something to hide, and can be effectively dealt with through having the proper attitude.

While that may sound simple, Mrs. Fabick and the Hahnes are well aware of the stigmas that persist, even after the family has adjusted.

The SEMC clinic, therefore, is a crucial project for the association. Its main purpose will be to screen those with symptoms of epilepsy and offer counseling and treatment to anyone under 21 found to have the disease.

Access to Pascal Hall at SEMC, plus an examination room and a waiting area, will be provided for the twice-monthly clinics. Two neurologists, Dr. Peter Lee and Dr. Raul Nasser, have donated their time for the clinics.

The doctors, both with special competence in pediatrics, will work with clients, performing tests and offering treatments.

The Jaycees donation cleared the way for a $30,000 federal grant from the Government Planning Council on Developmental Disabilities administered through the Developmental Disabilities Service Act.

Mrs. Fabick hopes the clinic will open in September, but currently the association is waiting for the grant money to come through.

In addition, the Mental Health Board of both Madison and St. Clair counties each donated $7,500.

Educational programs also will be provided through the Granite City school system, Mrs. Fabick says. Such programs have been utilized in the Alton and Belleville areas and the association notes success in those cities.

Conservative estimates say that one percent of the population has epilepsy, Mrs. Fabick says. The estimates must be conservative, because many doctors are reluctant to diagnose epilepsy, due to the stigma and ridicule associated with the disease.

Jennifer Hahne has been laughed at and taunted because she is epileptic. Her situation is the same as many epileptics.

She must take several types of medication to control the disease, which also add somewhat to the symptoms. Mrs. Fabick says that phenobarbital is a relatively common medication given to combat epileptic seizures.

Other anti-depressants and barbiturate-based medicines also are used to keep the nervous system stabilized. It is important that epileptics not become overly anxious or nervous, because such emotions can trigger seizures, Mrs. Fabick says.

Sometimes, preventative surgery to remove dead brain cells or lesions can relieve the disease, she says. In most cases, however, the epileptic must simply learn to handle life with the disease.

As Mrs. Hahne says, she would rather have Jenny be allowed to do the things that other children her age do and risk that she might have a seizure than force her to sit on the sidelines.

"A lot of the fear is fear of the unknown," Mrs. Fabick says.

But if Mrs. Fabick and the Hahnes have their way through the association — which meets the fourth Wednesday of each month at 7 p.m. in the Wiseman Room at SEMC — they can alter the myths and misconceptions, and then people like Jenny will be freed from the stigma society imposes upon them.

Bike safety emphasized

A new law effective this year allows police officers to stop cyclists and require them to submit their bicycle to an inspection. Other safety provisions for cyclists this summer include requirements and recommendations:

Keep right; ride with traffic, not against it. Ride single file.

Watch out for drain grates, soft shoulders and other road surface hazards.

Be wary of car doors opening or cars pulling into traffic.

Don't carry passengers or packages that interfere with vision or control.

Be extremely careful at intersections, especially when making a left turn.

Use hand signals to indicate turning or stopping.

At night, utilize reflectors and lights.

Use a good helmet.

Ride a bike defensively; watch out for "the other guy."

Copies of the Illinois Bicycle Rules of the Road are being made available from the SIUE police.

Bicyclists may also join Operation Identification, marking their bicycles with permanent identification numbers to deter theft and facilitate recovery, by contacting the University Police Department, 692-3324. Operation Identification is a free program.

Bicyclists in the U.S. total 105 million.

"There is no better time of the year to remind citizens that bicycle safety is everyone's job," SIUE Police Chief Charles McDonald comments. "Motorists must be reminded to practice proper driving techniques by giving cyclists their share of the road."

"Drivers should not overestimate the speed of a moped or underestimate the speed of a bicycle. Ten speeds can easily cruise at 25 to 40 mph."

"Further, motorists should not expect that cyclists, particularly bicyclists, will obey all traffic laws," according to the National Safety Council, four out of five bicycle-vehicle accidents are caused by cyclists who don't obey traffic rules."

FACES TWO CHARGES FOLLOWING DISPUTE

A Venice man was charged with disorderly conduct and resisting arrest following an argument about money, Venice police said.

Glen Crook, 23, 1227 Douglas Ave., was arrested late last week, when he allegedly refused to leave the scene of the disturbance.

Police were called to 1024 Calhoun Ave., where Patricia Pritchard said that Crook had given her money the day before and then asked for some of it back. When she told him she would not give him any money, he allegedly broke a nightstand and refused to leave.

When told to leave, Crook allegedly pushed a police officer. Although he eventually left, Crook allegedly returned and kicked in a door after police were gone. They returned and arrested him at 1023 Calhoun Ave.

South speech students honored

The Granite City High School South Speech and Theater Awards Banquet was conducted recently at Bill Burns Cafeteria.

Students were honored for their work in stagecraft, acting and debate during the 1982-83 school year.

Richard King, a teacher at Granite City High School North who retired at the end of the year, was given a plaque commemorating his years of work with speech and drama in the Granite City schools. King also taught at Granite City High School South.

Those receiving certificates of membership into the International Thespian Society were Tracy Dunlap, Debbie Green, Marilyn Guenther, Paul Hitchcock, Wade Imhoff, Robin Knight, Janice McGinness, Linda Moreland, Joe Morelock, Keith Papp, Matt Torosian, Shelia Whitt, Donna Wofford, Donald Mayford, Jim Drago, Lisa Preloger, Tim Streicher, Kelli Wilson, Patti Flanagan, Tim Daurer, Angela Ybarra, Maria Longos, Tim Mizell and Jessie Warren.

New National Forensic League members receiving certificates were Ken Daurer, Lisa Jackson, Karen Moore, Angela Ybarra, Jenny Will, Lisa Walker, Beth Bodnam, Debbie Rozycki, Lisa Preloger and Randy Markarian.

Advanced NFL degrees were honor: Kathy Toussaint, Cheryl Thomason and Sean McGovern; excellence: Patti Flanagan; and distinction: Tami Tracy and Tim Streicher.

Students receiving honor thespian awards, the highest honor given by the International Thespian Society, were Kathy Toussaint, David Williams, Joyce Dunlap, Jenny Will, John Rutledge, Karen Moore, DeeDee Darnell, Debbie Rozycki, Beth Bodnam, Lisa Walker and Cheryl Thomason.

Those receiving speech and theater awards include Melissa Pennell, best actress; Kathy Toussaint, best supporting actress; John Rutledge, best actor; Joyce Dunlap, best stagecraft student; Tim Domagalski, outstanding stagecraft student, and Tim Streicher, best debater.

The annual potluck picnic for area ministers and their spouses will be held Monday, June 6, in Pavilion No. 1, located near the Wilson Park tennis courts.

The event is sponsored each spring by the Quad-Cities Ministerial Association, according to the Rev. Don F. Pierson, spokesman for the group. Meat and beverages will be furnished, the minister advised.

The Rev. Louis Frick, association president, is extending an invitation to the informal fellowship and conversation offered at the annual family picnic.

"The occasion provides an opportunity for sharing and getting acquainted which is needed with the busy schedules of ministers," Rev. Frick added.

THESPIAN HONOREES. These students at Granite City High School South recently won the highest honor given by the International Thespian Society. Dumping of pets is dangerous

With the enforcement of a rule prohibiting pets in Kirkpatrick Homes, a sad and dangerous thing seems to be happening. Residents of outlying areas are reporting abandoned dogs and animals which have apparently been "dumped" there by their owners.

One woman living on Slough Road says she has picked up four dogs in five days and has taken them to the Granite City Humane Shelter on Missouri Avenue (old Route 3).

Certainly, it is difficult to find a good home for a pet, but every effort should be made. Dumping dogs and cats in remote areas creates the danger of the animals biting children and adults living in those areas. It is particularly dangerous, since some will come into contact with squirrels, which often carry rabies. Some will starve to death. Others will be run over by autos. A few lucky animals will find homes. Most won't.

If a good home cannot be found for a pet, the most humane thing to do is to take it somewhere properly equipped to deal with stray animals in a humane way, such as the city's shelter or the St. Louis Humane Shelter, which is open 24 hours a day.

Residents of unincorporated areas are angered by the dumping of pets and some are taking license numbers of cars used for such dumping and will contact authorities for prosecution.

We appeal to those who must divest themselves of pets not to dump them. It is cruel to the animal and dangerous to everyone in the unincorporated areas, even those just driving through.

We sincerely hope that the Quad-City Association for the Protection of Animals or some other group will step forward soon with some other suggestions how people can easily dispose of their pets, when necessary.

Continue scrutiny of securities

Should Illinois Secretary of State Jim Edgar have named securities lawyers and securities industry executives to a committee to revise Illinois securities laws? That question is being hotly debated as legislators consider the panel's recommendations.

Most vocal critic of the appointments and findings is an association representing public securities officials from the 50 states, Canada and Mexico. The group fears that our state is moving toward total "deregulation" of new securities offerings, the Illinois government in effect wasting its hands of any responsibility.

Segments of the Chicago bar association and investment community are said to be behind the move to block the Illinois Securities Commission from rejecting applications to register questionable stock offerings. Backers had been calling it a non-controversial proposal to stimulate Illinois' economy and promote jobs. It is awaiting Senate action after breezing through the House, 114-1.

The committee's report includes some updating of the 1953 law, changes that Edgar regards as long overdue. But the committee went farther and deleted standards for rejection of new stock offerings, requiring promoters only to fully disclose to investors the conditions of securities being offered.

The North American Securities Administrators' Association says public investors should have been included on the 23-member study group that drafted the proposed law revisions. Nor was there anyone, a private citizen, without direct interest in the matter.

Aside from the makeup of the panel are the merits of the pending changes, now certain to be discussed in detail at Senate hearings next week. Should the government try to screen out fraudulent or unfairly devised securities proposals?

In arguing for continued state evaluation of stock offerings, the American Association of Individual Investors says people usually rely on brokers' advice rather than on the "fine print" in a prospectus. This group sees a conflict of interest ahead for brokers who both underwrite and promote new stock issues.

Senators ought to give close scrutiny to the legislation, House Bill 663. At this stage, we can see no reason for the state to abandon its past role.

RTA on prowl for more taxes

The problem with the Chicago area's Regional Transportation Authority is that it has had too many unusually highly-paid employees. It has drained off a lot of tax money from elsewhere in the state, and currently has its eye on a lot more.

Needing Democratic votes to help pass his tax proposal, the Republican governor may feel a need to do a bit of bargaining this month, perhaps some of it involving the RTA.

With this background in mind, there is concern but also some hope associated with a meeting in the executive mansion set for today. A May 15 "sunshine" discussion there focused on possible remedies for mass transit woes, and that topic is to be resumed.

Participants along with Gov. James R. Thompson were Senate President Philip J. Rock, House Speaker Michael J. Madigan, Senate Minority Leader James "Pat" Phillips and House Minority Leader Lee Daniels. The group is trying to deal with:

—What should be the role of the RTA or any successor agency in the six-county metropolitan area surrounding Chicago?

—Should structural changes be made to effect redefinition of the RTA's role?

—What cost-containment policies should be adopted?

—What should be the form and amount of a state subsidy?

The answers to such questions are of interest not only to the Chicago area but to all Illinoisans.

Opportunity for conservationists

Madison County farmers, we are told by the Soil Conservation Service, are taking 15,000 acres out of production this year under the Payment-in-Kind (PIK) program and other acreage limitation programs. A fifth of the nation's cropland is pledged to PIK.

As the U.S. Agriculture Department's district SCS conservator, Wayne Kinney sees it, this leaves farmers with an unprecedented opportunity to improve their soil and water conservation systems.

Erosive and less productive acreage taken out of annual crop use can be planted with grasses and legumes as cover crops, saving soil and water resources as well as building up natural fertility.

"This also is a good time for planning ways to fit no-till or other conservation tillage methods into a farm's operation," Kinney says.

"On especially erosive acres, permanent conservation practices such as terraces, grassed waterways, windbreaks and other enduring practices can be established without interrupting cash crop production."

"On marginal land, farmers are being encouraged to discontinue use of those acres for crops. Such areas may be best suited for permanent grasses, trees or wildlife habitat."

"The current program offers farmers a real opportunity to balance their short-term cash needs with their longer-range conservation and productivity goals."

Readers React

The Press-Record asked local residents if they feel the United States should do more to limit the inflow of foreign imports into this country. Their reactions follow.

James Bagl, Granite City

"I think we should pass new laws and regulations that are stricter than the ones we have and should penalize U.S. businesses that break them, like U.S. Steel is trying to do."

Karen Frazar, Granite City

"We should tax them (importers) to the point where they can't afford to bring in the goods. They tax us, why not tax them?"

Steve Sparks, Granite City

"They shouldn't even have imports coming into the U.S. We have enough. They (importers) are just hurting our economy. I always say, 'Buy American, not imports.'"

Sharon Kennerly, Granite City

"We should have people who are unemployed make the stuff, rather than import it."

A Democrat supports Don Weber's courage

To the Editor:

I have been reading with interest the numerous pros and cons of Madison County State's Attorney Don Weber.

First a Republican in Madison County has two strikes against him and blind umpires behind the plate.

Although he may be a bit aggressive, he must also ward off "political wolves" always trying to attack his ethics and character.

Attempted character assassination is a commonly used and favorite tool by persons who can't use the truth or facts in our area.

Although I am a registered Democrat, I will vote and support Don Weber the next time he runs, although I did not vote for him in his last election.

Many, but not all, of our so-called political leaders think legal statutes apply only to those who disagree with their point-of-view. In their antiquated minds, "the law" can be overlooked if you click your heels and fall in line like Hitler's SS.

Although I am writing as an individual, I am the head of the Madison Concerned Citizens, most of whom also are registered Democrats, and most of whom will vote and work for the re-election of Don Weber, unless of course the Democratic "fathers" of Madison County can come up with a candidate who cannot be intimidated by would-be "political bosses."

I would hope — but it is doubtful — that the Madison County Board would increase Weber's staff so he could prosecute civil rights violations with the same zeal he does criminal.

To quote the late President John F. Kennedy, "Pay any price, bear any burden, meet any hardship, support any friend or oppose any foe, to assure the survival and success of liberty."

Feels Madison storm sirens should be tested

To the Editor:

In response to Madison's Fire Chief Mike Macek's published letter, I, as one of those people who had signed a letter to the Editor's article which was printed in the May 18th edition of the Granite City Journal have these words of reply.

That letter was written, signed and mailed to the Journal several days before a front page article May 15th titled "Madison's Tornado Sirens in Working Order." In this article, it was explained to citizens as to why Madison's tornado sirens were not sounded on the evening of May 1 and a few other related items.

I would like for it to be known that after this front page article was printed and, therefore, questions answered, that those of us who had signed a letter of criticism, as stated by Mr. Macek, had thought that the Journal newspaper would not print our letter, since concerning matters were explained on their newspaper's front page, so, therefore, we did not pursue in contacting the Journal to have our letter printed, since questions were answered. I wonder why they would print a questioning letter in a later edition after an answering article had already been printed just a few days earlier?

I and others do accept Mr. Macek's answers as to why our city's storm warning system was not activated on the evening of May 1, but Mr. Macek, we already knew why because of a front page news article.

I would also like for it to be known that I and many others still feel strongly about the testing of Madison's tornado warning sirens. We feel that the sirens should be tested on a monthly basis externally, as well as internally. By external testing, the citizens of Madison will know that the city does have a warning system and that it is in working order.

It has been said that some people complain of the noise factor by the external testing of the sirens. Many of us say, surely a few minutes of noise isn't going to kill anyone, but a tornado will!

Protests damage to flags on Memorial Day

To the Editor:

A sad commentary to this Memorial Day was the vandalizing, destruction and theft of American flags and poles at three businesses on Johnson Road.

These three businessmen are veterans of World War II, Korea and Vietnam. In the early morning of Memorial Day, their flag poles were bent to the ground and all American flags were stolen. One business firm also has an expensive logo stolen.

These were expensive all-weather nylon flags, with embroidered stars and sewn stripes, and these men were proud to display "Old Glory" for the short while they remained on their premises.

What is wrong with the Youth of this community? Why would they want to steal American flags and destroy the flag poles. These people must have been drinking on drugs, or whatever? Or is the latest kid know to steal American flags and for what reason? What do they do with them?

Johnson Road was beginning to look like the "Avenue of Flags" with almost every business flying the American flag, which is an inspiring sight. These flags fly day and night on location.

It is frustrating enough to lose your flag to begin with, but on Memorial Day, it made it that much more revolting. If the vandals wanted flags, they may purchase them in a store and leave property of other people alone, but they don't get as much of a thrill that way.

What unpatriotic vandals and thieves lurk in this community?

American Heritage Bank awards to 14

The annual "family night" dinner of the American Heritage Bank of Granite City was held at Sunset Hills Country Club.

In attendance were 135 of the bank's directors, officers, employees and their families. Following the buffet dinner were announcements, service awards and entertainment.

Robert H. Karandjeff, executive vice-president, was master of ceremonies for the evening. He expressed appreciation to all for their continued support in helping the bank to achieve another successful year. Henry D. Karandjeff, chairman of the bank's board, briefly traced his career from 1911, when he entered the banking field as an office boy and handyman. He commented that, even after 72 years in the banking business, he still greatly enjoys serving as an unpaid advisor to the American Heritage Bank.

Next, service awards were presented to employees. Recipients were: One-year, Kathy Anglin, J.

Mike Duncan, R. Scott Mount and William R. Smith; 5-year awards, Barbara DuVall, Rosemary Geroff, Robert H. Karandjeff, Mary Kee and Nancy Miller; 10-year awards, Jane Knight and Ruth McClew; 15-year awards, Ruth Crow and Carolyn Kopp; and 20-year award, Helen Mangoff.

The group was entertained with an audience participation program by "Gravity's Last Stand." The three-man comedy and juggling team has appeared with comedian Rodney Dangerfield and with Meadowlark Lemon of the Harlem Globetrotters. At the end of the performance, Gravity's Last Stand distributed gifts to the children in attendance.

MOTORIST HURT In an accident this week, Judith A. Horbett, 21, of 2439 Pontoon Road, who was driving north on Washington Avenue, sustained an injury. Operating the second vehicle, headed east on East 28th Street, was Richard S. Stevens, 28, of the Granite City Army Installation.

franchise last Aug. 24 to CATV Systems of New York and its franchising manager, Doyle Dugans of Tallahassee, Fla. After months of delay and futile efforts to reach Dugans, it was learned that Dugans was no longer associated with the New York partners.

On April 19, Dugans and Buey jointly requested the franchise awarded earlier to CATV, but at the May 3 council session, the scenario had already changed and Buey and Dugans each sought the contract separately.

At that point, the city attorney was asked to prepare a new ordinance, leaving blank the section where the name of the firm could be inserted.

It was the original ordinance without a company's name that was awarded Tuesday to CyCom.

In his May 3 presentation, Buey agreed to hire local residents to perform various functions, primarily in the marketing and construction phase; make provisions for local programming origination, and install the cable underground.

An installation of underground cable, as opposed to above-ground hookups, was among the deciding factors in the council's decision to award the contract to Buey.

The ordinance requires posting a $15,000 performance bond, which did not occur the first time when CATV received the contract, although required by the ordinance. Buey offered to post a bond within 30 days as the contract terms state.

Also at the May 3 meeting, Buey said all design and engineering work is completed to place the cable under existing city easements and stated studies had been made and that a plan was already prepared for the city of Venice.

Buey also pledged to locate a head-end or service office in Venice and stated that Mitch Hutchings, an Oklahoma City contractor who was at a previous meeting, has consented to build the system and has three pieces of trenching equipment available.

Agreeing to a five percent return to the city of all subscriber fees, not just five percent of the base rate, Buey stated that if it appears insufficient money is being generated to operate the system, the firm must come before the city council for permission to increase fees to subscribers.

It was pointed out by cable TV representatives, however, that under a Federal Communications Commission ruling only three percent return to a community is automatically allowed.

A further two percent return to communities may be added for local programming use, making a total of five percent, if a city's application is approved by the FCC, it was learned.

It is further understood that many cities, including Granite City, receive a percentage of funds hired solely upon the base rate charged to subscribers, not on charges for movie channels, such as HBO and The Movie Channel.

Venice's ordinance calls for a percentage of revenue from all sources, including premium movie channels.

Specified also in the ordinance and agreed to earlier by the CyCom president were various fees to be charged residents wishing to have the cable TV system in their dwellings.

During the initial installation phase, Venice residents may have cable TV installed at a cost of $15 for the primary installation, plus $5 for each additional TV set in a home.

The monthly base rate for one TV set will be $8.95 and a second set (without converter) will cost $2 a month.

One premium movie channel will cost $9, with additional movie channels available at $7 each. A $15 deposit may be charged subscribers, which is return-nable if the service is disconnected.

A vote was called for by Mayor Tyrone Echols after several aldermen started questioning various aspects of the ordinance, comparing it to what was offered by the TeleNational representative and earlier by Buey.

Third Ward Alderman John Eyrick asked what had happened to the Oklahoma City man, and Mayor Echols said that Buey agreed to live by the original ordinance when he appeared before the council May 3.

It was noted that Harrison Flora, the TeleNational representative, stated that a head-end tower would be placed in Venice, but a central business office probably would be located in Centerville, the largest community with a TeleNational system in the general area.

Alderman Ervin commented, "If we can't get the office here, that leaves me out. I understand his viewpoint, but it's what is best for this city I'm interested in."

"That goes for me too," Fourth Ward Alderman Victor Valentine Sr. added. Second Ward Alderman Hank Szevala added, "I feel like speaking in favor of CyCom," and First Ward Alderman John Craig said, "I'm in agreement."

Two roll call votes were taken before the issue was concluded with all seven aldermen voting affirmatively in both instances. (Second Ward Alderman George Mangiaracino was absent due to ill health.)

It was agreed that 135 days is sufficient time to construct the system, the time limit specified in the original ordinance. "If he (Buey) doesn't agree to time limit, you can always rescind it, if you have to," Mayor Echols stated.

Buey offered no argument with any aspect of the contract in his conversation with the attorney Wednesday. Hartman advised.

'Rags to riches'

count and guilty of two others at Alton. Another 12 charges related to his supposed post-confession cover-up are yet to be heard in St. Louis.

The dozen charges include an allegation that he arranged for unauthorized removal of some fixtures from his big home here after it had been taken over by the Bank of Edwardsville.

The government says it probably will seek new charges against Brimberry soon, this time directly related to his frenzied financial manipulations at Stix.

Why would he live so high when a "net worth" tax investigation easily could trip him up for not reporting sufficient income to equal the spending? (He reported 1978 income of $32,750 but two years later bought a $400,000 home in Paradise Valley, Ariz., near Phoenix, and began planning his Granite City residence.)

Why would he plant trees similar to palm trees in this climate? Why would he send plumbers to Arizona to get gold fixtures and hammered-brass sinks for the residence?

Why would he fly carpet people to California to help make the Parkway Drive home match his concept of perfection when at the same time he was conducting his life in such a way that he was unlikely to be able to remain in the residence more than a few months?

Despite a lot of testimony and the half-dozen court convictions, questions are still more plentiful than answers. But enough has been known or surmised for several years to capture the interest and attention of local residents.

For starters, there is the sprawling, Tudor-style home, situated on seven lots, surrounded by a $100,000 wrought iron and brick column fence.

Its equipment included a staff of guards, three swimming pools, five fireplaces, seven bathrooms and nearly a hundred trees. For each child there was a wing consisting of a bedroom, bathroom and playroom.

The sauna? Enhanced by a mink rug, of course.

The kitchen cabinets cost $65,000. An intercommunication system is valued at $10,000. There is a pastry cupboard. The kitchen toaster is built-in.

The stocked liquor cabinet cost $65,000, mighty fancy for someone who had operated the Colonial Inn tavern in Pontoon Beach before he began to spend money like it was going out of style, or like it was water. Whatever the cliché, it fit Brimberry like a glove. (Before he worked for Stix he was employed at the Bache brokerage, and before he bought the Colonial Inn he ran the University Club at Glen Carbon.)

A Chicago Tribune feature on the mansion last week spotlighted one of the home's three Jacuzzi spas—alone columns on each side, rising out of the middle of a basement room.

Climatron equipment in the home provided optional environments for one room, including "Baja sun," tropic rain sounds and lighting effects, and "jungle steam."

Brimberry liked to buy furs and autos as gifts, including a car for a church raffle.

He sometimes liked to swoop down in a helicopter to pick up his children from school, or to give them lunch money. He stopped the helicopter landings after safety and noise concerns were voiced to the Federal Aviation Administration.

As Charles Osgood described past events on The Osgood File, a CBS radio network program, last week: "The former saloonkeeper lived a life that most people only dream about, and now he's about to pay for it."

"He was a free spender who splashed $100 tips around and once lost $250,000 gambling in Las Vegas in half an hour."

"Prosecutors accuse him of master-minding a scheme to plunder a brokerage house—of $16 million, or $23 million, or $40 million, or those figures would make it one of the largest losses of its kind ever in this nation."

Labeled in court testimony as the mastermind of a scam in which phony stock certificates were used as collateral for cash withdrawals from as many as ten accounts, the portly Brimberry never was near starvation but his Pontoon Beach tavern business was failing financially at the time it was consumed by flames.

Witnesses at various trials say James Massa used $954,000 in Stix funds to buy a 62 percent majority interest. Massa's rise to the chairmanship coincided with Brimberry's increasing authority, ultimately exceeding that of the Stix president, who has been cleared of any suspicion.

Massa liked to gamble, too. And Duane Skinner, formerly of Pontoon Beach, liked to live in Arizona and still does; he came from Mesa for the trial in which he and Massa were convicted last month, and then returned to the West.

On May 27, Massa was sentenced to 20 years in prison and Skinner received a 12-year term.

Another of Brimberry's closest associates is said to have kept $50,000 handy in a car trunk regularly, in case Brimberry ran short of ready cash.

Brimberry's wife, Janice, who helped create the phony stock and was granted immunity from prosecution in exchange for testifying against Massa and Skinner, often shopped with $10,000 in her purse.

She estimates her husband lost millions of dollars gambling, and says all of the money taken improperly has been spent in one way or another.

Gambling trips of varying size and duration are thought to have exceeded 100.

Mrs. Brimberry so far has declined to list any remaining assets and faces possible court contempt proceedings June 20 in Edwardsville if she maintains her silence.

Also keeping quiet lately has been the once-talkative Tom Brimberry. His decision not to testify in his own defense, blocking any cross-examination, was indirectly referred to by one of the prosecutors.

The reference, which prompted Judge Beatty to advise jurors to disregard it, is expected to be cited in appeals of the guilty verdict.

No longer on a hunger strike, Brimberry still has a lot of fight left in him although he is depressed by his long confinement in lieu of $100,000 bond. He even seemed to enjoy himself on some occasions at the trial, which provided a change of pace for him.

Many more days of trial, court and otherwise, loom ahead.

Will the "Rags to riches" saga end in poverty or new wealth for Brimberry? The outcome at this point cannot be foretold.

4-H WILL BE TOPIC

"Four-H Past, Present and Future" will be taught by local leaders as a lesson for Homemakers Extension Association unit meetings June 7. The Granite City unit will meet at 12 noon at St. Mary's Presbyterian Church, 1700 Pontoon Road, and the Trio Unit at noon at Hope Lutheran Church, 3715 Wabash Ave.

Fund established to aid Patterson family

A 29-year-old Granite City man who is quadriplegic after a severe motorcycle accident has been transferred from Firmin Desloge Hospital in St. Louis to St. Mary's Mount Rehabilitation Center, relatives say.

Tim Patterson was injured April 11. Prior to the accident, he was a laborer at Granite City Steel. Presently, he is undergoing intensive therapy at the center.

Patterson is married to the former Paulette Watson and they have two children, ages 5 and 7.

Major changes must be made to their home to accommodate Patterson before he returns in late August or early September.

A building fund has been established in his name at American Heritage Bank, Johnson and Fehling roads. Donations will be greatly appreciated, a family spokesman said.

NEW PRESIDENT of the Pontoon Beach Lions Club is Bob Durbin. He was among the officers recently elected at the Lions Den 11 in Pontoon Beach.

Other new officers will be First Vice President Phil Vaughn, Second Vice President Bob Lipscomb, Third Vice President Alex Malynsky.

Tomer Mike Papp, Tom Twister, Wolf Conklin, and directors Bob Fleming, two years, and Mike Skarke and Larry McKee, one year each.

The current club president, Frank Comer, will become a director of the club.

Businesses to contact city if trash service desired

Granite City businesses who currently are served under the city's trash hauling contract with SCA Services will have to contact the city's Engineering Department if they wish their collections to continue.

City Engineer Monroe Brewer said the city will be charged a per unit cost for collections under its new contract with Allied Disposal, Inc., St. Louis.

In response, the city is updating its list of businesses so that the city will not be charged for businesses which no longer operate here.

Businesses failing to contact the city will not be served after July 1. "We don't want to pay for 700 businesses if only, say 50, are using the service," Brewer said.

Under the new refuse-hauling contract, businesses are offered the equivalent of residential refuse collections. The service is restricted to three 30-gallon cans per week.

Those wishing to continue the service may call 492-8237 or write the Granite City Engineering Department, 2000-B Delmar Ave., Granite City, Ill., 62040.

Nannie Howard

Mrs. Nannie B. (Elkins) Howard, 75, of 4182 Breckenridge Lane, died at 11 p.m. Tuesday, May 31, 1983, at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, where she was a patient three weeks.

She was born and resided in Kentucky until moving to this area 44 years ago. Mrs. Howard was a member of the Cedar View Baptist Church.

Her husband, Isaac Howard, died in 1963.

Survivors include a son, John Jessup of Glencoe, Mo.; two daughters, Mrs. Lloyd (Glendora) Davis of Pocahontas, Ill., and Mrs. Donald (Revanell) Gelsinger of Tucson, Ariz.; one brother, Charles Elkins, Dayton, Ohio; two sisters, Mrs. Alice Mundy, Greenville, Ky., and Mrs. Chester (Halle) Fulkerson, McLeansboro, Ill.; 10 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren.

Visitation will begin at 4 p.m. Friday at Davis Funeral Home, 21st Street and Cleveland Boulevard. Funeral services will begin at 10 a.m. Saturday, June 4, at Cedar View Baptist Church, 3700 Ruth St. in Pontoon Beach, with burial in Sunset Hill Cemetery, Edwardsville Township.

Lila Morford

Lila (McKinney) Morford, 69, of 1339 Rhodes St., died at 7:10 p.m., Wednesday, June 1, 1983, at the Meadowview Nursing Home in Maryville, Ill. Five years ago, Mrs. Morford resided at the nursing home since Feb. 16, 1980.

Born in Murphysboro, Ill., she lived 34 years.

A member of the Gospel Chapel General Baptist Church, Mrs. Morford played piano there for 17 years before she became ill.

Survivors include her husband, William Morford; one son, Lloyd E. of Granite City; one sister, Mrs. Russell (Edith) Gorbach, Granite City; grandchildren; and five great-grandchildren.

Visitation begins today, Thursday, June 2, after 4:30 p.m. at the Mercer Mortuary Chapel, 1416 Niedringhaus Ave. Funeral services will be conducted at Mercer Friday, June 3, at 10 a.m. by the Rev. Earl Gibson with burial to follow in St. John Cemetery, 2901 Nameoki Road.

John Schaffner

Mr. John Schaffner, 66, of 35 Oaklawn Drive, a lifelong resident of the Quad-City area, was pronounced dead at his home at 6:25 a.m. Wednesday, June 1, 1983, by William Sternberg, Madison County deputy coroner.

He had been ill 10 years. Mr. Schaffner was born in Venice. He worked for the U.S. government at the St. Louis TRASCOM facility for 27 years as an equipment specialist and retired in 1974.

Mr. Schaffner was of the Protestant faith and he served with the U.S. Navy during World War II. He held membership in the U.S. Submarine Veterans of World War II, Venice-Madison American Legion Post 307 and Amvets Post 51 of Granite City.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Mary M. (Livingston) Schaffner; one brother, Leonard Schaffner of Troy, Ill.; a sister Mrs. Mildred Henderson of Camdenton, Mo., and several nieces and nephews and great-nieces and great-nephews.

He was preceded in death by another brother, George Schaffner.

Visitation will begin at 3 p.m. today at Bob Thomas Memorial Mortuary, 2205 Pontoon Road, where the Rev. Ed Weston will conduct 1 p.m. funeral services Friday, June 3. Burial will be in Sunset Hill Cemetery, Edwardsville Township. Memorials are requested for the American Heart Fund.

Ola Nix

Mrs. Ola V. (Stucke) Nix, 70, of 1217 Twenty-second St., Ill. for two years, died at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday, May 31, 1983, at St. Elizabeth Medical Center. She was hospitalized for three months.

A lifelong resident of Granite City, Mrs. Nix was a member of Sacred Heart Catholic Church. She also held membership in a local senior citizen club and American Legion Auxiliary 280 of Benton, Ill.

Mrs. Nix was employed with the University of Illinois Extension program for five years as a nutrition advisor.

Survivors include one son, Ricky Nix, Benton, Ill.; three daughters, Miss Malinda Nix of Granite City, Mrs. Bruce (Karen) Galbraith of DuQuoin, Ill., and Mrs. Maureen Souers of Collinsville; one brother, Donald Stucke of Granite City, president of the Granite City Board of Education; a sister, Mrs. Dick (Marian) Thrulbey of Kansas City, Mo., and eight grandchildren.

There will be no visitation. Her remains will be taken from Davis Funeral Home, 21st Street and Cleveland Boulevard, to Sacred Heart Catholic Church, 2600 Washington Ave., where a funeral mass will be read at 9:30 a.m. Friday, June 3. Burial will be in St. John Cemetery, 2901 Nameoki Road. Memorials are requested for the American Heart Association.

objections to the bill during the debate last week.

She objected to allowing the county chairman to remove commissioners on the basis that they might not be residents of the district. St. Clair County Board Chairman Jerry Costello lives in Belleville, which is not in the MESD.

Further, she objected to paying commissioners a salary equal to the members of the lowest paid of the two county boards, which is the $5,500 annually paid to St. Clair County board members.

Wolf and Greathouse contend paying the commissioners a set salary actually would decrease costs.

Presently, MESD commissioners are paid $40 a meeting. In the past, the board met 14 or more times a month, but Greathouse said meetings have been decreased to five or six a month.

Wolf said salaries commissioners would not be allowed expenses and added that most of the time they travel to MESD sites, they use district vehicles.

Greathouse said he always uses district cars, but the commissioners use their own vehicles because MESD does not have enough cars to go around. The commissioners "average a couple of hundred dollars a month" in travel expenses according to Greathouse.

The salary provision is, in his opinion, "the greatest thing that ever hit the pike" and would provide an incentive for being dedicated commissioners to MESD.

"You like to get some decent people on these boards," he said and indicated that one commissioner made only $1,400 a year because he works and cannot attend many meetings.

That is one of Mrs. Young's complaints. She contends that the salary proposal does not penalize commissioners who do not attend meetings.

Greathouse and Wolf point to the dismissal procedure to counter that argument. By allowing the county board chairman to dismiss commissioners, a safeguard would be provided against those who do not contribute to MESD.

Final push

"I would never expect to be here for even 20 minutes if I wasn't doing my job," Greathouse said. "I think anybody not doing his job should be gone."

Current ordinances allow for board chairman to appoint commissioners, but there is no provision for ousting them.

Greathouse said he does not believe that any commissioners would immediately be dismissed if the bill passes, but contends the same people who make the appointments should control dismissals.

His own position also would be affected by the proposal — and by the bill to split the district.

The Metro-East Sanitary District Act of 1974 requires that the executive director, who acts as chief executive and administrative officer of the district, be a registered professional engineer.

The act says the executive director "shall possess technical or specialized skill or knowledge in the field of engineering. He shall have at least 10 years practical experience as an engineer, at least two years of which shall have been in a responsible administrative and executive capacity."

MESD does not now have an executive director, a position appointed by the board of commissioners, but Greathouse has acted in that capacity for years. He is not an engineer.

Both he and Wolf contend that the executive director must be an administrator and that the engineering requirement is not needed.

The proposed bill says an engineering firm will be hired on a retainer basis — a procedure already used by MESD.

Hurst-Rosche Engineers Inc. of Belleville is retained by the district for $150 per month.

"They are excellent people. They are as much a part of this district being in such good shape as anything else. I don't make any decisions without them," Greathouse said of the firm.

In proposing the bill, Rep. Wolf has argued that MESD now is in better shape than ever and says that the $1.5 million in debts the district had owed has been substantially decreased.

He also contends that MESD had been "rotten" since 1974, but the payroll has been greatly decreased since Greathouse took over.

According to Wolf, officials in various MESD communities support his measures. He said that 90 percent of community leaders in MESD are behind the legislation.

East St. Louis Mayor Carl Officer, however, has expressed objections to the legislation.

Despite objections, Wolf remains adamant that the legislation is badly needed. The proposal, he said, would simply "fix into place those procedures proven to be efficient."

With the deadline for passing legislation approaching, Wolf pledged, "if we don't get it passed this time, we'll submit it next time."

He added that Mrs. Young's move was definitely calculated to take place after several state representatives supporting the legislation had left the floor. She could not be reached for comment.

Greathouse was more opinionated about the opposition. "She (Mrs. Young) got up and made a speech and called it a bad bill. She doesn't even know what the bill is about. She has no idea what's going on," he contended.

He added that MESD has not experienced any problems since Madison County took over.

Madison County obtained control of the district when the county's assessed valuation exceeded that of St. Clair County. Madison County controls three of the five MESD board positions, including the chairmanship.

REWARD OFFERED

The Bi-State Development Agency is offering a $5,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the armed man who raped a woman bus driver Tuesday aboard a bus in the 2700 block of Hodiama Avenue, St. Louis. Information may be telephoned to (314) 444-3385.

ARREST AT LIBRARY

Soon K. Song, 22, of 1633 Olive St. was arrested at the Granite City Public Library at 4:50 p.m. Wednesday for battery and trespassing after two women library employees said they were being harassed. Ordered by the librarian to leave, he refused and was still there when they arrived, officers said.

Truck, trailer plates at banks

Sec. of State Jim Edgar has announced that 740 financial institutions in Illinois have begun over-the-counter sales of pickup truck and trailer plates, including the First Granite City National Bank, Granite City Trust and Savings Bank and American Heritage Bank.

"License plates with the letters 'B' and 'TA' for fiscal 1983-84 are now available," Edgar said.

"B" plates are for trucks with a gross weight of 8,000 pounds or less, including the vehicle and maximum load. The fee for "B" plates is $30.

"TA" plates are for trailers with a gross weight of 3,000 pounds or less, including the vehicle and maximum load. The fee is $12.

AL BRONNBAUER, who died at 6 p.m. Thursday, May 26, was buried in Calvary Cemetery, Edwardsville Township, following funeral services at St. Elizabeth Catholic Church Saturday, May 28. He died at St. Elizabeth Medical Center following a stroke. He is survived by a wife, two daughters, two sons, three brothers, his mother and two grandchildren.

STEEL COIL MOVES, CRACK OVERTURNS

A large truck carrying a 30,000-pound coil of steel overturned on Benton Street 300 feet north of Benton Street at 2:40 p.m. Wednesday. The driver, Robert A. Townsend, 41, St. Jacob, suffered multiple injuries and was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

The coil shifted as he turned from 18th, and it fell off the left side of the truck. Chains halted it but the weight toppled the big tractor-trailer onto its side. Firemen went to the scene due to spilled fuel; Arthur Copeland, 705 Niedringhaus Ave., was arrested later for driving across a fire hose.

ANNUAL RENDEZVOUS this Saturday and Sunday at Fort de Chartres, four miles west of Prairie du Rocher in Randolph County, will feature hundreds of hunters, trappers and buckskinners attired in authentic French era costumes, three 18th Century military units in full regalia, a score of tradesmen and artisans plying the trades of the 1700s, and two fife and drum corps.

25th class at SIUE to total 2,000

Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will confer 2,000 undergraduate, graduate, specialist and doctoral degrees at commencement exercises Friday, June 10.

Open air commencement activities are scheduled on the ellipse, located in the heart of the campus between the fan parking lots and the academic core. A concert by the Symphonic Band will officially open the evening at 6:30. Graduation exercises will immediately follow.

Earl Lazerson, president, will give the welcoming address and confer the degrees. Peter Raven, director of the Missouri Botanical Garden in St. Louis, will deliver the commencement address.

In observance of the university's 25th anniversary, members of the first graduating class (June 1958) have been invited to be guests at an Alumni Association dinner prior to commencement; they will receive special recognition during the graduation program.

Two honorary degrees and four distinguished service awards will be presented. Katherine Dunham, professor emerita at SIUE and a performer and choreographer, will be given the honorary degree of doctor of fine arts and Raven will receive the honorary degree of doctor of science.

Distinguished service awards will be presented to: Robert Hyland of St. Louis, regional vice president of CBS and general manager of KMOX Radio; Carolyn W. Losos of St. Louis, director of the Leadership St. Louis program; Carl E. Mathias of Granite City, service area manager for Illinois Power Co.; and Wilbur R. L. Trimpe, retiring president of Lewis and Clark Community College in Godfrey.

Miss Dunham is being recognized for her contributions in the theater, dance, choreography, motion pictures and opera. Raven is being saluted for his contributions to the body of knowledge of botanical systems and related fields.

The distinguished service award will go to Hyland for his work as a journalist and broadcaster, as well as his role in the development of the St. Louis region. Mrs. Losos is being recognized for her achievements in education and civic affairs; Mathias, for his contributions to economic development; and Trimpe, for his work in education.

Other awards bestowed during the commencement activities will include the Great Teacher Award, Alumni of the Year Award and junior and senior Teaching Excellence Awards.

In the event of inclement weather, the starting time will be the same, but the commencement exercises will be decentralized, with ceremonies occurring at several indoor locations.

Any change in the commencement exercises will be announced on area radio stations after 3 p.m. June 10. Information may also be obtained by contacting 692-2000 or 692-2739.

Truman home named national historic site

President Ronald Reagan has signed a new law to establish the Harry S. Truman National Historic Site in Independence, Missouri to "share the special qualities of President Truman with the nation."

The newly-signed legislation will provide for permanent administration of the Truman home by the department of the interior. Designation of the home on North Delaware Street in Independence comes at the beginning of formal preparations for the observance next year of the centennial of President Truman's birth. Officials hope renovation of the home and preparations for its opening to the public can be completed by early 1984.

ARREST FOR BATTERY

Workshop on 'Cooperation'

A workshop on the game, "Cooperation: The Wealth of Nations," will be conducted June 15 and 16 at SIUE. "Cooperation" is a competency-based, experimental, simulation board-game designed to capture student interest and promote knowledge of U.S. geography and history.

Participants become acquainted with the basics of economic evolution, discussion skills, working with others, making real-life decisions, and the values of citizenship, democracy, freedom and individual responsibility. It will be conducted by Robert R. Blain, professor in the School of Social Sciences at SIUE, and inventor of the game.

The objective of Cooperation is to achieve a high standard of living at the lowest possible cost of living for cities of 20,000 people and the nation as a whole. The game is set up for two to six players and takes up to two hours to play. Cooperation is played by four different sets of rules: barter, majority rule, making money, and autonomy.

The workshop, which begins at 9 a.m. June 15 in Room 2304 of Peck Classroom Building, will give social studies teachers a chance to play the game using all four sets of rules. After each game is finished, participants will discuss the

3 BIKES RECOVERED

Three 10-speed bicycles stolen from Jim Davis storage shed at 2391 Waterman Ave. during the weekend were recovered and returned to the owner after police took a truck burglary report from Thomas Marrs, 4062 Sara St. Marrs had walked to a field behind apartments, searching for items taken from his truck, when he saw the three bicycles and contacted officers. A citizen band radio, two stereo speakers, tools and sunglasses with a total value of $32 are missing from the truck.

Learning goals of the game. The fee is $10 and the registration deadline is June 9.

Shrine Circus will bring a variety of acts to the Shrine Circus
 From clowns to tigers visitors to the Shrine Circus will bring a variety of acts to Granite City's Tri-City Speedway, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Acts include:
 "YO-HO THE CLOWN" "Yo-Ho is really a funny guy. He has the unique ability to be able to understand the audience and play to it. Both children and adults respond to his charm," a Shrine spokesman said.
ADA SMIEYA
 "This feature act of controlling tigers and African lions has been presented all over the world, and has been a headline spectacular at Circus World Museum" in Baraboo, Wis., for the past two years.
 "Among the many dangerous and unusual feats these vicious beasts perform are fire leaps, high wire walking, pyramids, and rollovers."
 "Miss Smieya is Europe's foremost female wild animal trainer, and the only woman in America to present the big cats alone in the steel arena. It is a dramatic sight to see especially when she ride one of the tigers bareback, he said."
MELLE MARLEEN
 "Suspended by her slender, beautiful neck from a taut steel cable slides lovely Marleen."

Variety of acts to Granite City

The deadly neck-slide is one of the most dangerous tricks performed, for one wrong move can be perilous, indeed."

KING ARTHUR'S KNIGHTS
"Witness before your eyes what spectators of the medieval period watched:

jousting. The ancient sport of duelling.
"Capturing all of the excitement of this chivalrous time when men of honour fought in mortal combat. The sound of pounding hooves fills the air, lances and shields clash. Knights yell in the heat of combat in an attempt to gather all of their strength to defeat the opponent, and the hand of their lady fair," the spokesman added.

THE WINN BROTHERS
"The exciting 'death walk' performed by the Winn Brothers is one of the most exciting spectacles ever seen, the spokesman said.

THE ASTROS
"This exciting act consists of daring young aerialists performing thrilling acrobatics upon a motorcycle suspended high in the sky on a single steel cable. High above the audience's heads, they ride perilously along the cable, back and forth," he said.

Busy summer for bookmobile

The summer schedule of the Granite City Public Library's bookmobile will begin June 6 and continue through Aug. 12. The bookmobile has books for persons of all ages and carries a larger selection of adult materials during the summer.

The story cassette collection, which includes most Newberry award books as well as a variety of other popular children's titles, is also available to check out in the summer.

Children of elementary school age may sign up for the Reading Rainbows summer reading program on the bookmobile, at the main library or the branch library.

Youngsters who read and report on ten books at their reading level will be rewarded with a party, where each child will receive a completion certificate. The party will be held at the end of the reading program.

In conjunction with the Reading Rainbows summer programs of participating libraries, Public Broadcasting System television (Channel 9) will air a 15-part series based on a selection of children's books that promote a positive self-concept and literacy skills. These programs, hosted by LeVar Burton, will be shown July 11-29, Monday through Friday, at 10:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. They will be repeated Aug. 1-19.

The bookmobile will have film programs at each stop this summer, and each stop will be visited on a weekly rotation. The schedule is as follows:

Monday: West Granite City Park 11 a.m.-3 p.m.; Worthen Park 4 p.m.-8 p.m.

Tuesday: Webster School 9 a.m.-12 noon; Lincoln Place Community Center 1 p.m.-4 p.m.

Wednesday: Marshall School 9 a.m.-1 p.m.; Anchorage Homes 2 p.m.-4 p.m.

Thursday: Nursing homes.

Friday: St. Elizabeth

School 9 a.m.-4 p.m.

Films (May be subject to change):

June 6-11, Black Stallion, 116 minutes.

June 13-18, Winnie-the-Pooh and the Blustery Day, 30 min.

June 20-25, Mary Poppins, 139 min.

June 27-July 2, Star Trek: Space Seed, 50 min.

July 5-9, Strawberry Shortcake in Big Apple City, 25 min.

July 11-16, Seven Brides for Seven Brothers, 103 min.

July 18-23, Lord of the Kings, 133 min.

July 25-30, Alice in Wonderland, 115 min.

PUBLIC PICNIC AT SIUE ON SATURDAY

The Campus Recreation Club of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will sponsor a day-long picnic at the Tower Lake Recreation Area, Saturday from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Area residents will be able to enjoy volleyball, fishing, sailing, canoeing, square dancing and other activities. All activities are free of charge.

The picnic is part of national activities sponsored by the National Recreation and Park Association (NRPA) with a "Life Be It" theme. The NRPA activities are part of a five-year program to increase public awareness of opportunities available to "live life to its fullest."

The Campus Recreation Club is composed of physical education majors and others interested in recreation.

For more information about activities at the Tower Lake Recreation Area, interested persons may call Campus Recreation at 1-692-3392.

WALLET, $30 STOLEN

A wallet containing $80 and belonging to Ken Knott, 2309 Elm Ave., was taken from a picnic table at a nearby home where a graduation party was being held early this week.

SPRINGTIME STUDIES. Laura Allen and Laura Levin, both of Granite City, speech pathology majors at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, enjoy the smell of spring blossoms while studying outside the Rendleman Building on the SIUE campus.

NEW POLICY FOR NAMEOKI CINEMA. The BAC Nameoki Twin Cinema, 30 Nameoki Village Shopping Center, has begun a new lower admission price policy due to the current economic situation, according to Melanie Rees, manager. One screen will feature first-run and current films for a reduced $3 adult admission, with $1.50 rates for children and senior citizens. At the first-run screen, Sunday family prices also will be reduced from $8.50 to $7. Wednesday bargain night will remain $1.50 for all admissions. The other screen will feature older films and all seats will be $1. The BAC Cottonwood Cinema, Glen Carbon, has lowered its adult admissions from $2.75 to $3. Nameoki Cinema will be celebrating its 10th anniversary in July. Among the upcoming first-run films planned for this summer under the new policy rates are "Psycho II," "Superman III" and "Twilight Zone: The Movie."

Tourism, convention emphasis

Tourism promotion legislation sponsored by Senator Sam Vadalabene, D-Edwardsville, has been approved by the Illinois Senate.

The legislation, part of Senate Democrats' Prairie State 200 economic development plan, was approved overwhelmingly.

"I strongly believe that Illinois has much to offer tourists from throughout the U.S. and the world," Vadalabene said. "We need to do everything we can to spread the word about our state's natural and man-made resources."

Senate Bill 1017 would create a new tourism and convention bureau within state government. The bureau would receive funds for promoting conventions in Illinois, which in turn might generate a projected $5 million in additional annual convention business.

"Illinois is a great state and we need to make that known," Vadalabene concluded.

State checking products' safety

By WM. L. KEMPINER
Ill. Public Health Director

It is not possible to create a risk-free environment, but one of the state health department's missions is to attempt to protect consumers against unreasonable risk of injury or illness from hidden hazards in manufactured products and chemicals. These are hazards which consumers are exposed to, often without knowing it. Each year in the U.S., 33 million people are injured as a result of hazardous products. More than 110,000 of these injuries result in permanent disability, and 30,000 end in death.

Neither federal nor state government agencies have enough money to insure inspection of every manufactured product. The best we can do is rely on the consumer or the manufacturer to notify us of inherent hazards.

When we talk about hidden hazards, we mean those hazards which are not easily detected or avoided and constitute unreasonable risk of injury or illness.

Chronic health hazards are those which cause injury or illness, such as cancer, miscarriage, birth defects, genetic changes or sterility.

We are, by the way, more likely to be exposed to products which cause chronic illnesses in our homes than in our workplace. There are thousands of toxic chemicals in the more than 2,000 products commonly used in the home.

We can best protect ourselves against hazardous products by proper selection, careful use of the product, regular maintenance and repair, proper storage and disposal.

Proper selection means buying a safe product in the first place. But, also, proper selection involves who is using the product, where and how it is to be used, and an awareness of its potential hazards.

Before a product is used, all labels and instruction manuals should be read carefully.

Once you or anyone else using the product understands how to use it, you should go one step farther. Never be in so much of a hurry to get a job done that you get careless.

Clear away the area where you're going to work, wear protective clothing if necessary, and don't work so long that you become too tired to be careful.

It is also important to maintain a product so that it remains safe to use. Inspect it regularly to make sure that all parts are working properly and do not need replacing because of wear. If they do, replace them before the product is used again.

Proper storage is self-explanatory: keep out of the reach of children — but disposal can sometimes be a problem.

Shell waters fishy

Some 90 percent of the global fish harvest is from the world's continental-shelf waters. The United States has a sizable share of the catch — salmon and crab from Alaska's Bristol Bay, shrimp from the Gulf of Mexico and cod and flounder from Georges Bank.

$500 TALENT PRIZE

Wayne Pannell of East St. Louis has been named the winner of the Starbound Student Talent Show at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. Pannell, a senior majoring in music at the University, played the piano and sang contemporary songs, including "Truly" by Lionel Ritchie, to win the contest. Pannell will receive a $500 prize for his first-place act.

Chouteau sells truck, typewriter

By DONNA KIMBRO
of the Press-Record
Chouteau Town Board of Trustees opened bids submitted for sale of a 1968 International dump truck and an Olympia typewriter and discussed the tentative budget at a meeting Tuesday night.

Patricia Polley, town clerk, opened and read bids for the truck, which ranged from $76 to $327, and accepted the high bid from Dale Wood of Granite City. An offer of $25 for the surplus typewriter from Godfrey Allen of Granite City, was also accepted.

Approval was given by the trustees to pay $181 dues to the Township of Illinois Supervisors organization. Chouteau Township Supervisor Walter "Dick" Sparks read a letter from the Madison County Building and Zoning Department in conjunction with a residential piece of property where sanitary waste water and septic sewage were tested and found to be in violation of the county's health standards. The house has not been connected to the existing sewer lines and, according to the letter, the householder cannot repair or install a new septic system when the county's sewer lines are available.

The resident has been notified to resolve the problem immediately, but it is believed the house is in the process of being repossessed and the family has moved from the premises. Mrs. Polley said.

After an energy audit of the township hall and garage by a representative of the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan and Regional Planning Commission, the supervisor announced the two facilities were found to be energy efficient. The only suggestion was to continue to keep the thermostats at 68 degrees in the winter months and at 78 degrees for the summertime, Sparks explained.

The supervisor reviewed the recent Cancer Drive conducted in the Mitchell area and noted a total of $896 was donated to the American Cancer Society as a result of the project.

During a discussion on the tentative budget, it was noted that $3,000 was available for allocations to various requests for funds. The trustees agreed to consider the Hartford Library, the AFA Animal Shelter and a building at the South Roxana recreation area as possible recipients of the money.

A public hearing on the tentative budget is set for 7 p.m. Monday, June 6, at which time amendments will have to be made for the distribution of funds, Sparks contended.

The next regular scheduled township meeting will be held Monday, June 13.

Fleet blessing to launch boating season

The 27th Annual Blessing of the Fleet will take place June 26 on the Mississippi River at the Shrine of Our Lady of the Rivers at Portage des Sioux.

The blessing and an accompanying boat parade are conducted each year on the last Sunday in June in conjunction with National Safe Boating Week. The event also officially launches the boating season in the St. Louis area. Last year, more than 300 boats participated, despite poor weather.

Legislation to provide funds for coal research advances

Legislation designed to increase support for the research, development and commercialization of Illinois coal won the unanimous support of the Illinois Senate Tuesday, according to the bill's chief sponsor, Sen. Sam Vadala (D-Edwardsville).

SB 1127, known as the "Illinois Coal Technology Assistance Act," makes available funding for grants to advanced coal development projects and coal development utilization research. Vadala stated it will provide a reliable, continuing source of support for basic coal research and coal demonstration projects such as the Allis-Chalmers Kilgus coal gasification project nearing completion in East Alton.

"Those of us in Southern Illinois are very aware of the advantages of increased Illinois coal utilization. We must, however, recognize that expanding Illinois coal use depends largely on solving the pollution control problems caused by its high sulfur content."

"I firmly believe that the answer to these problems lies just around the corner, and the way to finding that answer is to support coal research and development in Illinois," Vadala continued. "As it presently stands, one day we have funding for coal research and development—the next day we don't. This measure will provide a source of funding, not just today, but for the tomorrows to come."

Vadala concluded, "The use of Illinois coal can cause the rippling effect needed to put us on the road to the revitalization of Illinois' economy. When we sell Illinois coal, we not only put our miners back to work, but also stimulate the rest of the economy, from the storekeepers to our heavy industries."

The bill, which has the support of the leadership of both parties, now proceeds to the House of Representatives for consideration. It is supported by the Illinois Coal Producers, the Illinois Coal Association, coal combustion manufacturers, the United Mine Workers of America and the Illinois AFL-CIO.

WOMAN ALLEGES MAN BITES ARM

On Saturday MHC-Mendoza meets Ohio-North in Midwest Regional semi-final

After a three-week break in competition, the Illinois McGuire Cup champion, the Mexican Honorary Commission-Mendoza team of Granite City, will take to the soccer fields again this weekend in Bloomington, Ind., as the Midwest Regional competition continues.

MHC-Mendoza will meet Ohio-North this Saturday, June 4, at 1 p.m. in the regional semi-final game. Despite a rain-soaked field, the Granite City club earned a berth into the semi-final match May 15 with a stunning 2-1 victory over Ohio-South in Centerville, Ohio.

This weekend's other semi-final game, which features Missouri and Kansas, will follow the Illinois-Ohio-North matchup at 3 p.m. The winners will play the next day, Sunday, June 5, at 1:30 p.m. for the Midwest Regional championship.

Losers of Saturday's games will vie for third place at 11 a.m. Sunday.

The winner of the Midwest Regional will advance to the national McGuire Cup championships in Omaha, Neb., on June 18 and 19.

According to Ruben Mendoza, MHC-Mendoza coach, the Granite City club has been practicing twice a day preparing for this weekend's contests.

"We're really coming along," Mendoza said.

"Everyone's healthy and it looks as though everyone will be able to make the trip."

For the first couple of games of competition, Mendoza has had to play with less than a full roster because some athletes were away on college.

To gain its berth in the Midwest Regionals, Granite City has won numerous games against Illinois teams, Indiana and Ohio-South. The teams in this weekend's tournament are the four surviving teams from 13 states which comprise the Midwest Regional.

INDIANA BOUND. MHC-Mendoza defender Steve Tritschuh moves toward an Ohio-South Elk during a Midwest Regional quarterfinal game in Centerville, Ohio, on May 15. MHC-Mendoza, the Illinois McGuire Cup champion, will travel to Bloomington, Ind., this weekend to vie for the Midwest Regional. The Granite City club will meet Ohio-North in the first semi-final game which begins at 1 p.m. on Saturday.

At South's Varsity Field South baseball sectional begins this Saturday

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — Hold on to your hats, folks, here we go again. Beginning this Saturday, June 4, Granite City South will once again host high school post-season baseball action at its Varsity Field on Fehling Road.

Beginning at 10 a.m., Edwardsville, which was a 9-2 winner over Alton Tuesday in its own regional, will meet Murphysboro, a 6-2 winner Monday over Salem in the Murphysboro Regional. The Tigers boast a 20-12 season record while the Red Devils' tally is 15-7 on the season.

The second sectional game which will follow the Edwardsville-Murphysboro matchup (approximately 1 p.m.), pits Collinsville, 18-8, the winner of the Collinsville Regional, and O'Fallon, an 8-7 winner over Belleville East Tuesday in the Highland Regional. The Panthers winner will meet the winner of the Bartonville (Limestone) Sectional at Robin Roberts Field in Lanphier Park in Springfield.

Class AA Sectional

The Class AA state final is scheduled for 7 p.m. on June 10 at Robin Roberts Field.

Collinsville, which has won its respective regional the last six years including a state championship in 1980, is coached by six-year coach Russ Keene. The Katoeks, after a stunning 13-0 no-hit shutout over Granite City South last Monday in the Collinsville Regional, appear to have their ready for the sectional.

are the area's winningest team at 31-4.

Winners of Saturday's games will play on Monday for the sectional championship at 4 p.m. at South's Varsity Field. The winner of the sectional will advance to the state quarterfinals on Thursday, June 9.

Playing in the second game of the state tournament, the South Sectional tional. In addition to an errorless defense against the Warriors, Collinsville scattered 10 hits.

Despite the Kahok defense, and awesome hitting, they still have to be considered underdogs in Saturday's contest against O'Fallon.

"Honestly, I'd rather be playing anybody other than O'Fallon," Keene said. "They've got it all. They're probably the most complete team around."

In the only Collinsville-O'Fallon matchup of the season, the Panthers were 5-1 victors.

After a spectacular start and surviving a mid-season eight-game losing streak, the Edwardsville Tigers appear to be back on the winning track, said Tiger Coach Tom Pile Wednesday.

"We seem to be back in the thick of things," Pile said. "I'm real happy with the way we've been playing lately."

Pile's Tigers have recovered nicely from their slump to win nine of 10 of their last 10. In short, Edwardsville appears to be putting it all together when it counts most.

If there were seeds given in sectional baseball tournaments, the O'Fallon Panthers would unquestionably be the top seed.

Coach Robert Hodgdon's squad have beaten every area team at least once. The Panthers have lost just four games in 35 for an 88 percent success rate.

The fourth and final team represented in the sectional is Murphysboro (15-7) at 10 a.m.

Game 2: Collinsville (18-8) vs. O'Fallon (31-4) at 1 p.m.

(re)scheduled sectional finale to Edwardsville. That game was eventually played in Carlyle, the only place within 50 miles where a dry field could be found.

The Red Devils are coached by Dick Spiller.

SECTIONAL SCHEDULE

SATURDAY
(At Varsity Field)
Game 1: Edwardsville (29-12) vs. Murphysboro (15-7) at 10 a.m.

Game 2: Collinsville (18-8) vs. O'Fallon (31-4) at 1 p.m.

MONDAY
(At Varsity Field)
Championship: Winner 1 vs. winner 2, at 4 p.m.

Whitaker accepts assistant mat job

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

Walt Whitaker, Granite City North's virtuoso wrestling coach for the last 10 years, will be the assistant wrestling coach at the Granite City Center, Granite City's fledgling junior college.

Whitaker's decision to accept the coaching position was announced Wednesday afternoon.

For Whitaker, the only varsity wrestling coach the Steelers have ever had, it's his first college coaching job.

Despite Whitaker's lack of college coaching experience, he's a strong contender for the job, wonder why Stars' wrestling coach Jim O'Dell and GCC administrators came to Granite City first when they were looking for an assistant coach.

During his tenure as the Steele helmsman, Whitaker amassed a 167-23 record, winning 87 percent of his matches. But that's not all. The longer Whitaker was coach, the better the Steele record got.

During the last four years, North's record was 74-3 and in the last two years the 49-year-old coach led the Steele mat squad to two Gateway East Conference championships, two regional championships, a sectional championship and a championship in the Granite City South Holiday Wrestling Tournament.

Those championships were neatly tucked away while the Steelers simultaneously put together a 41-0 record.

He has also coached three All-Americans—two NCAA Division I athletes, and one Junior College All-American.

Whitaker, who has been with Granite City District Nine for 20 years, will remain a physical education teacher at Granite City High School this fall. The GCC coaching position is only part-time.

Prior to his 10-year stint at Granite City North, Whitaker was the assistant wrestling coach at Granite City High School.

With the two high schools consolidating this fall, Whitaker would have been the Warrior assistant coach again, under Coach Bill "Red" Schmitt, but as Whitaker put it "that would be a step backwards." It's for that reason, Whitaker said, that he decided to accept the assistantship at Granite City College.

"It was either accept another high school assistant coaching position, or accept the junior college assistant coaching job," Whitaker said. "I don't think anybody would blame me for taking the college job."

"I'm excited about coaching some of the same kids again that I coached in high school," Whitaker said. "That was a big factor in my accepting the position."

Whitaker said the biggest asset which he'll bring to the Star wrestling program is his general knowledge of coaching and his wrestling knowledge.

Star Coach O'Dell concurred.

"Walt's strong suit is his teaching ability," O'Dell said. "He teaches fundamentals as well as anybody around. I feel fantastic about coming back this year with Whitaker," he said. "He's a wrestling disciplinarian and I consider him to be one of the top coaches in the state."

With Whitaker deciding to turn his coaching talent towards the college ranks, it's no surprise that he decided to stay in Granite City rather than look to St. Louis or elsewhere.

A 1951 graduate of Granite City High School, Whitaker represented the Warriors on the mats all four years in high school.

As a senior, he was captain of the Warrior grappler squad under first-year Coach Schmitt.

After college, he accepted a wrestling coaching job at Cahokia High School in 1960. He coached the Comanches for three years before he was offered the assistant coaching job under Schmitt, a position he held until North opened in 1973.

Granite Cityans will get their first opportunity to see Whitaker as the Stars assistant this summer as the Granite City College plans a summer wrestling clinic in late July or early August, according to O'Dell.

The Stars open their regular season on Nov. 11 against Meramec College of St. Louis.

Linhart is GCC's first hoop recruit

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — Pat Linhart, Granite City South's leading scorer on the basketball court during the 1982-83 season, became the first recruit of Granite City College basketball coach Larry Graham Wednesday.

Graham made it official Wednesday evening during an interview with the 6-foot-3, 185-pound center-forward at his side.

"I'm really excited about this," Graham said. "Pat's a quality player, who I believe has been underrated. He's a tremendous shooter who has not gotten the attention he deserves because his team wasn't a consistent winner," Graham said.

Linhart, a two-year starter for the Warriors, was the Gateway East Conference's leading scorer last year with an average of 21 points per game. He was also the GCC's fifth leading rebounder averaging seven cars per game.

How does Linhart feel about being the GCC's first basketball recruit? Linhart simply replied, "It's alright. I think it's great!"

"I've played against Coach Graham's teams in the past and I like his style of play. I think can play his style of basketball," Linhart said.

That style of basketball Linhart spoke of is the quick paced, full-court press style which has been the mainstay of Graham's high school teams and looks to be a part of his college coaching technique as well.

"I envision Pat as a forward for us who'll be able to run up and down the court, pacing our game," Graham said. "I also envision him taking some 18-foot jumpers for us as well. He's what I've been looking for. I'll be disappointed if he doesn't earn a starting position," Graham said.

Graham said he has not finished talking to Quad-City athletes.

"I'm looking to find some athletes who want to become part of a new college. There are still some good athletes out there yet to be signed."

"Granite City is not known as a basketball powerhouse, but it will be in the next couple of years," Graham said. "With increased interest that a college can create, things may improve."

Linhart, who was considering attending Southern Illinois University at Carbondale, said he decided to attend the Granite City College because it's close to home and it gives him the opportunity to get some of his general studies out of the way before seeking a degree in electronics.

Linhart, 18, is the son of Joan and Carl Linhart of Granite City.

Steelers, Tigers headline GEC teams

Granite City North and Edwardsville dominated the selections for the Gateway East Conference's all-conference first team with five players each.

In all, North had five on the first team, two on the second team and two on the honorable mention list. Meanwhile, Granite City South had one player on the first team, one on the second team and four on the honorable mention list.

Junior pitcher Dan Whitsell, senior catcher Daren DePew, senior pitcher Steve Tritschuh, senior shortstop Brian Levin and junior right fielder Terry Jurawitz were named to the first team for the Steelers. Granite City South first baseman John Linhart was also named to the first team.

Senior designated hitter Tony Duennas from Belleville Althoff was also named to the first team.

Second team members are: pitcher Doug Fish of Althoff, pitcher Dave Scheibel of Edwardsville, catcher Brian Bethea of Cahokia, first baseman Rod Hessler of North, second baseman Bart Carson of Althoff, third baseman Todd Hansel of Edwardsville, shortstop games, special events, arts and crafts. Cost is $18 a session.

There is also a camp adventure for boys and girls ages 6-11. This camp will run for nine weeks, June 6 to Aug. 5. There will be no camp on July 4th, but meets Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

These campers will play soccer, softball, archery, swimming, games, arts and crafts. Cost is $20 for 'Y' members, $36 for non-members.

Both camps will meet at the Granite City Army Depot. Each camp is separate from the other.

For more information, persons should call the YMCA at 876-7200.

Tri-City day camp begins this Monday, June 6

The Kiddie Kamp Counselor for the upcoming Tri-City Area YMCA day camp is Mrs. Janet Davitroy.

She has taught home economics at North High School for the past nine years and working with children and development classes as well as the cooperative education program.

She is the mother of two children Douglas, six years and Susan, four years.

Kiddie Kamp is for boys and girls ages 4-5.

The camp starts Monday, June 6. The camp meets Monday through Friday, 9:30 a.m. to noon for the next four weeks.

CM zaps Oilers; wins North Softball Regional

By STEVE WHITWORTH
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — The Civic Memorial (Bethalto) Eagles won the Granite City North Regional softball tournament in convincing fashion Tuesday with an 11-1 victory over East Alton-Wood River in the final.

The Eagles were sparked by the pitching and hitting of senior hurler Annette Brazier, who will be attending the University of Missouri this fall on an athletic scholarship. Brazier drove in two runs with three hits and struck out seven Oiler batters without allowing a walk.

"It was one of Annette's better games of the year," said Jeff Dwyer, coach of the Eagles. The hard-throwing lefty accounted for more hits than she allowed, as she limited the Oilers to just two safeties.

"They came out smoking today,"

Dyer said of his team. Civic Memorial jumped all over Oiler starter Melody Lewis in the first inning with five hits and eight runs. Kary McDonough, Sue Barron, Denise Madison and Brazier all drove in runs in the inning.

The Eagles added another run in the third to make the score 9-0. The only Oiler tally of the contest came in the bottom of that frame as designated hitter Kay Eberhart drove in a run.

The Oilers were plagued by errors, wild pitches and passed balls. Lewis gave out five bases on balls and struck out just one Eagle batter. She allowed 11 hits.

"I was disappointed with our play in the first inning," said Sandy Magurany, coach of the Oilers. "We didn't come out playing too well. We dropped some balls that we should have caught. After the first inning, we played pretty well, but you just can't get behind with a pitcher like that."

Magurany described Brazier as one of the best pitchers her team has faced this year.

"Annette was really moving the ball around out there today," Dyer said. "It was the first regional championship for the Eagles, who have a 21-1 record at this point. 'We wanted this one bad,' Dyer said. 'Our kids lived up to what they're supposed to be. They just did a super job. I guess our defense could have been a little better, maybe. But, you just can't complain when they bring home a championship.'"

All three Quad-City high school teams in the tournament, Granite City North, Granite South and Madison, lost first round games.

The Steelers fell to Hardin 13-3, while South and Madison lost to Roxana and Edwardsville respectively.

GC hosts one Legion team; O'Fallon debut slated

By ROGER KRAMER
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — Last year, Granite City was able to sponsor two American Legion teams, the Tri-City Legion and the Glen Carbon Legion teams.

This year, Granite City came close to having no American Legion team at all. Neither the Tri-City American Legion nor the Glen Carbon American Legion was able to afford a baseball team this year. However, the Mitchell Athletic Club saved legion baseball this year by providing the funding for the Tri-City team.

Although the club was able to save the legion, there was still a lot of belt tightening. Instead of playing at the Granite City South diamond, Tri-City will play at Granite City North this summer.

Despite the fight for survival Tri-City faced, the Triplets should be one of the contenders for the District 22 championship.

Larry Corey, who managed the Glen Carbon team last year, will manage the Triplets this year. The Triplets finished with a 13-12 record in 1982, and Glen Carbon was 4-20. Tri-City was third in the North Division of the district.

"We're going to have quite a few good players this year. We also need a lot more depth in our pitching and in our outfield. Hopefully, we should have a solid team," Corey said.

Tri-City will be most solid at catcher with Daren DeFew and Vince Mitchell handling the duties. The Triplets are also solid in the infield with Brian Levin at shortstop, Kevin Patterson at second base, Scott Corey and John Linhart at first, Rick Daily at third, and all-around infielder Milt Roe.

Several of those players, Mitchell, Linhart and Corey, could also play in the infield. Tom Adamitis is the only player who is committed strictly to the outfield, but Corey is trying to find some more outfielders.

Dan Whitsell, who had a 6-0 record for North this year, Sam Tate and Mike Zukas are the only pitchers who have made a commitment to the Triplets. Corey said the team needs another starter and a reliever.

"I don't have any depth at pitcher. We need some more depth overall, but it's hard to keep players who are willing to sit on the bench until they are needed. It's a short season with 22 games in five weeks, and you have to have depth," Corey said.

Corey expects Edwardsville, Alton and Collinsville to be the strong teams in the North Division of District 22. Marissa, Belleville, O'Fallon and Fairview Heights are the strong teams in the South Division.

Tri-City was scheduled to begin the season with a 1 p.m. game at O'Fallon Saturday, but Corey said the game was likely to be postponed because O'Fallon High School is in the Granite City South Class AA Sectional Tournament this weekend.

The Triplets have three home games next week. Tri-City entertains Cahokia on Monday, Waterloo on Tuesday and East St. Louis on Thursday. All Tri-City Legion home games are at 6 p.m.

Sports Day has been an annual event in the elementary schools for 25 years. The 500 participants in this year's Sports Day were divided into three groups according to height, weight, and age.

Area high schools honor best, improved athletes

Spring athletes at the area high schools were honored at various athletic banquets recently.

GC NORTH
The most valuable player award for the Granite City North baseball team was given to Steve Trittschuh.

Dan Whitsell had the best earned run average on the Steeler pitching staff, and Trittschuh had the best batting average.

The following North girls received track awards: David Tatum, most valuable sprinter; Scott Cant, most valuable in the field events; Jim Robertson, most valuable distance runner; and Darren Bernatz, most improved athlete.

The following North girls received track awards: Paula Rozycski, most valuable sprinter; Debbie Brandt, most valuable in the field events; Dawn Young, most valuable distance runner; and Brandt, most improved athlete.

David Lipe was the most valuable tennis player at North this season.

GC SOUTH
Tom Newton was named the most valuable player for the Granite City South baseball team. Phil Dudak had the best batting average, and Newton had the best ERA.

Lora Wiser was the top distance runner and Trish Skinner was the top sprinter for South's girls track team this season.

John Menendez and Matt Sheridan received awards for the best doubles team at South. Don Kaltmeyer was the best singles player.

MADISON
In Madison, nine individual awards were issued to various members of the boys' track team.

Shawn Brown was named the best sprinter and Rouzell Porter was named the best sprinter prospect.

The best athlete in the field events this year went to John Lewis and the best field prospect went to Reggie Young.

Steven Ball was named the most improved distance man while Delarren Young was tagged the best distance prospect.

The most improved field event athlete went to Brian Papa while a spirit award went to Charles Fuller and the merit award went to Zemeru Hanson.

In girls' competition, Regina Banks was the Madison girls track team's most valuable player this year.

Madison softball coach Carol Cole gave six awards. Stephanie Walker picked up three of the six—most runs batted in, highest batting average and most put outs.

Kim Stanley was honored for the most runs scored and most stolen bases while Mia Jenkins was picked up the award for receiving the most walks.

Park District slates summer baseball tourneys

The Granite City Park District announces all area baseball teams the tournaments on this schedule for the season.

On Saturday, July 16 and Sunday, July 17, Bantam and Midget age division teams will be competing for the champion title.

On Saturday, July 23 and Sunday, July 24, any team in the juvenile age group is invited to participate in the weekend festivities. All tournaments will be double elimination and all teams must play with their original roster. Any team from outside of the Granite City Park District must have a roster signed by a league official. Team trophies will be awarded for first and second place and all members of the first place team will receive individual trophies.

The fee for the tournaments will be $50 per team, which will include the double-elimination tournament, a free soda and swim in the Wilson Park Pool for each person listed on the official roster.

For tournament application or more information, contact John Lakin, recreation supervisor, at the Granite City Park District. Inquiries may be mailed to Benton and Oregon Streets, Granite City, Illinois 62040 or persons may phone at 877-3059.

Rutkowski wins Gateway East tourney

The Rutkowski Construction team won the Gateway East Soccer Tournament during the Memorial Day weekend in Collinsville.

Rutkowski won the championship Monday by defeating the Salt Creek Peppers of Palatine, Ill., 1-0.

In games prior to the championship, Rutkowski defeated the Jamestown Stars 3-0 and tied the Russell Select team 2-2.

On Saturday, Rutkowski plays the Collinsville Kicks at the Army Depot at 2 p.m. The winner advances to the Illinois Cup playoffs.

June is National Parks and Recreation Month, and will be holding special events throughout the month.

This Saturday, June 4, things get under way with the Fun Run. This run will consist of 5 kilometers which is equal to approximately 3.1 miles.

All individuals may register in the Wilson Park Office this week through June 3, or the morning of the race at the starting point, 27th and Cleveland.

Registration will begin at 8 a.m. Saturday, with the race beginning at 10:00 a.m. There is no cost for entering. The age divisions are as follows:

14 and under, 15 to 35 and 35 and up.

Many events have been planned throughout this special month ranging from contest to music in the park. The second of the special events to be held in Wilson Park is a Horseshoe Throw Contest.

This competition will take place at the Horseshoe Pits on Sunday, June 5. These pits are located next to the Tennis Courts on the Benton Street side of Wilson Park.

Anyone interested may register in the Wilson Park Office this week through June 3, or at the pits on Sunday at 1 p.m.

As an added attraction, there will be "Music in the Park" that same day. On June 5 from 2 to 4 p.m., Howard Bolton and the Alley Cats will perform at the front of Wilson Park near 27th and Delmar.

Students raise $35,000 for MS
Over $35,000 was raised in the Athletics vs. MS campaign, Jim Hanifan, Head Coach of the Football Cardinals and Athletics vs. MS chairman announced.

High schools throughout the area, including Granite City High School South, which raised over $100,000, coordinated fund raising events to raise funds for the campaign.

Top fund raising schools were: First-Limbergh High School, Second-Eureka High School, and Third-Horton School (Ladue) High School. The three schools will receive awards of $500, $300, and $200 respectively.

For more information, contact: Ronald K. Finnan, at (314) 878-4446.

The St. Louis Orthopedic Sports Medicine Clinic will sponsor a Cramer Student Athletic Trainer Workshop from July 24, to July 27, at Maryville College.

Ronald K. Finnan, certified athletic trainer, will serve as host instructor. Applications are now being accepted.

Other staff members include Fred Shinn, Scott White, Bill Hughes, and Randy Biggerstaff. The instructors are all NATA certified athletic trainers.

The experience will enable the students to help their school athletic teams and coaches and it will also provide a good background for those students who wish to continue their study of athletic training.

For more information, contact: Ronald K. Finnan, at (314) 878-4446.

Eagles Auxiliary to attend convention

The Eagles Auxiliary held its semi-monthly meeting last week, with Gladys Freeman conducting the meeting as president pro tem for Ernest Von Nida, who was out of town.

The opening prayer was given by Ann Sporic, and Helen Frazier, secretary, read her report, and Leona Delaloye gave the treasurer's report.

Plans were formulated, by the officers and delegates who are planning to attend the State Auxiliary Convention to be held in Chicago Heights on June 9-12.

Jola Barylake, installation chairman, gave her report on the installation held on May 22nd, and thanked everyone who helped with the arrangements, decorations and the refreshments.

The auxiliary made plans for a Father's Day dinner which it will host for the Aerie on June 15th at 6 p.m.

Also, it was mentioned that the Aerie will hold the quarterly Eagles district meeting at the Granite City Eagles Home on June 12.

Both the attendance prize, which was donated by Florence Hagnauer, and the white elephant prize were won by Mrs. Delaloye.

The next meeting will be on June 14 with the new auxiliary president, Gladys Freeman, presiding at the first meeting of the 1983-84 year.

Vickie Elmore heads auxiliary

American Legion Auxiliary of Tri-City Unit 113 met at the legion hall, 1825 State St., for a regular meeting and to elect officers for the forthcoming year.

Mrs. Vickie Elmore will serve as auxiliary president with Donna Tanner as first vice-president, Christine Laughlin, second vice-president, Doris Hitchcock, secretary, Betty Hardison, treasurer, Pat Miller, sergeant-at-arms, Shirley Kowalk, chaplain, and Kim Paige, historian.

The current president, Mrs. Hardison presided at the session and announced the 22nd District meeting is set for Saturday, June 4, at Cahokia.

In other business, Mrs. Katie Barks gave a report of the successful visit to the Illinois Soldier's and Sailor's Home in Quincy, Ill. Games were played and refreshments served to the residents. Also visits were made to the hospitalized veterans and refreshments taken to them.

Mrs. Barks was named as co-chairman with the posts of the district for the 1983-84 year.

The meeting closed with prayer by Mrs. Kowalk and the remainder of the evening was social.

Coolidge teachers retirement dinner

At the end of this school year (1982-83), the last three members of the original 1956 staff at Coolidge Junior High School retired.

Miss Dorothy Hinson of Madison, taught for 35 years, 34 of which were in Granite City, 7 years at Central Junior High and 27 years at Coolidge Junior High. Miss Hinson taught English, Language Arts, Social Studies, and Mathematics. She was advisor for the cheerleaders for 26 years, the Student Council for 24 years, and the newspaper staff for 21 years.

Miss Anna Marie Harn of Granite City, taught for 35 years, 27 of which were at Coolidge Junior High School. Miss Harn taught Physical Education, and she was advisor for Coolidge's G.A.A. for 17 years. Miss Harn is planning to move to Montana.

Mr. Gladys Wallace of Granite City, worked as a secretary at Coolidge for 27 years. She is retiring and will stay in Granite City.

A dinner-party was held at the Elks Club in Granite City, to honor these three retirees. There were 100 in attendance which included many former Coolidge teachers.

Women of Moose elect officers

Mrs. Berietta Boyd was elected to the office of senior regent of the Granite City Chapter of the Women of the Moose, at a business session held in the Moose Lodge hall, last week.

Other officers to serve for the 1983-84 year include, Sylvia Woods, junior graduate regent, Delilah Kramer, junior regent, Pat Macke, chaplain, Lois Smith, treasurer, and Vernie VonNida, recorder.

Formal and public installation ceremonies will take place at 6 p.m. on Saturday, June 25, at the lodge, it was announced.

The retiring senior regent, Sylvia Woods, opened the meeting and held a class enrollment for new members, Georgia Curtis, sponsored by JoAnn Dull, Marilyn Beyer, sponsored by Mrs. Woods and Karin Easter, by Lois Smith.

Members approved membership candidates Doris Payne, sponsored by Rosella Mead, and Tina Worden by Jean Vetter.

Other projects approved were to become members of the Friends of the Library and they donated $25 to the organization; donate $55 to the Boy Scouts to help pay the cost of sending two boys to summer camp, and the regent also placed a wreath at the City Hall in Granite City on Memorial Day.

After the meeting a lunch was served by the Academy of Friendship committee followed by several games. Prize winners included Alice Skaggs, Billie Sefcik, Sara Gusewelle and Pat Macke.

The next meeting on June 8 will be observed as "officers' chapter night" the regent noted.

REGIONAL TOWN AND COUNTRY ART SHOW

The 1983 regional Town and Country Art Show will be held tomorrow, Saturday and Sunday at St. Clair Square, Fairview Heights. Winners from shows in Madison, St. Clair, Bond and Macoupin counties will be displaying their work, including Granite Cityans Neille Dierker, Lucille Latimore, Vivian Schneider and Eupel Tarris.

Regional winners will be eligible to display their work at the state art show Oct. 12-22 at the Lincoln Square mall in Urbana.

MADISON JR. SERVICE officers elected to serve the organization for the ensuing year. They were officially installed in ceremonies at a dinner meeting held at the Three Mile House in Edwardsville. From left, Diane Hudzik, first vice-president, Gertrude Ashford, treasurer, Georgia Stover, third vice-president, Toni Sbabo, second vice-president, Debbie Dillon, corresponding secretary, and Donna Woodard, president. Entertainment for the evening was furnished by Paul E. Dyrar, a folk singer and woodcarver.

Navy Mothers hold memorial service

A memorial service for two Navy fathers who died this year was held by the Quad-City Navy Mothers, Chapter 850, at a meeting conducted in the VFW Hall, last week.

A Johannmeier who died Jan. 18, and George L. Mathenia who died April 17.

Commander, Nita Molsinger was in charge of the meeting and presided over the service. A welfare report was given by Margaret Minzes who announced $1,795 was donated to veterans and veteran hospitals during the year.

Members approved sending contributions to a VFW in the amount of $125; a $50 donation to wheelchair veterans and $25 to the Navy Hospital Narragansett in Newport, R.I.

During the social hour the mystery prize was awarded to Verna Spurrier and special prize to Hazel Jones. Mrs. Jones was hostess for the night and served a dessert course preceding the games. Winners included Margaret Minzes, Elizabeth Ramsey and Mrs. Molsinger.

U.S. premiere of Grieg ballet

The ballet "Ice Maiden," by Norwegian composer Edvard Grieg, will receive its American premiere in the Communications Building theater at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville on Sunday, June 12, at 2 p.m. In a first for the Metro-East area, it will be performed by the Community Civic Ballet.

The ballet is based on a Norwegian folktale of forbidden love. Under the guidance of artistic director Irene Gintautis, the Community Civic Ballet includes dancers from Jersey, Madison and St. Clair counties. The group of semi-professionals draws its dancers from students in early high school to performers with a number of years of dancing experience.

The troupe has performed at fairs, conventions, civic clubs, and at homes for the elderly. Irene Gintautis studied with the Russian Kirov Ballet and has danced with the Lithuanian State Ballet.

Admission to the performance is $5 at the door, with student tickets $2.50. Groups can receive discounts.

78 killed

In 1910 the "Great Idaho Fire" in that state and northwestern Montana consumed 8 billion board feet of mostly National Forest timber on 3 million acres and killed 85 people, 78 of them firefighters. One result was passage of the Weeks Act in 1911 providing federal funds for forest protection.

Keeping fit helps people, companies

Business leaders from across the Midwest met Thursday in a symposium on the benefits of employee fitness programs, including how companies can save up to $1 million by keeping each of their top managers healthy.

"This symposium gave business leaders a chance to see that physical fitness programs in the work place can play an important role in making workers feel better about the product they produce. Business leaders get the added benefit of less time off the job by managers and workers," said James Liston, chairman of the Illinois Governor's Council on Health and Fitness.

The symposium, "Employee Health and Fitness: The Corporate View," was held at the Hyatt Regency O'Hare, Chicago, and was presented by the President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports and the Governor's Council.

It featured presentations on different types of fitness programs, how to implement a fitness program, how to use community resources such as hospitals and YM-CAs, and existing corporate program models.

Dr. Richard O. Keeler, program moderator, addressed the issue of executive fitness.

"Each fatal heart attack suffered by top management could cost a firm $500,000 to $1 million when considering business, time and experience lost, in addition to costs for recruitment and training," Keeler said. "The common backache amounts to more than $1 billion in lost productivity each year."

Charles Kirell, Richard Cremer and Jess Bell discussed the success of their company fitness programs.

"Seventy-five percent of our employees are actively engaged in fitness," Bell said. "Their morale and spirits are up and they look and feel better. We are dedicated to the promotion of health and fitness. This is one of the most worthwhile things our company has done."

In addition, seven Illinois companies were recognized for their physical fitness programs by the Governor's Council. They are CF Industries, Dart and Kraft, FEL-PRO Inc., Arco Atlantic Richfield (Harvey), Signature Financial Marketing Inc., A. E. Staley (Decatur) and Baxter Travenol.

"We have selected these companies based on their commitment to employee fitness," Liston said. "Instead of just sending a brochure to a company that is interested in a fitness program, the council urges a visit to one of these sites."

Liston cited Baxter Travenol as one example of a company's commitment to physical health. In November 1982, it opened its employee fitness facility in a converted records warehouse with gym equipment, bicycle and rowing machines and locker rooms.

Dan India, manager of the center, said 33 percent of the employees participate in the program, which also includes educational lifestyle seminars on stress management, giving up smoking, low back pain, nutrition and weight control.

"The response to the weight control program has been positive. Seventy-five signed up and are now asking us for the nearest tailor," India said. He added that the strength of the program has been senior management's commitment to good health.

Saying goodbye to Stanley

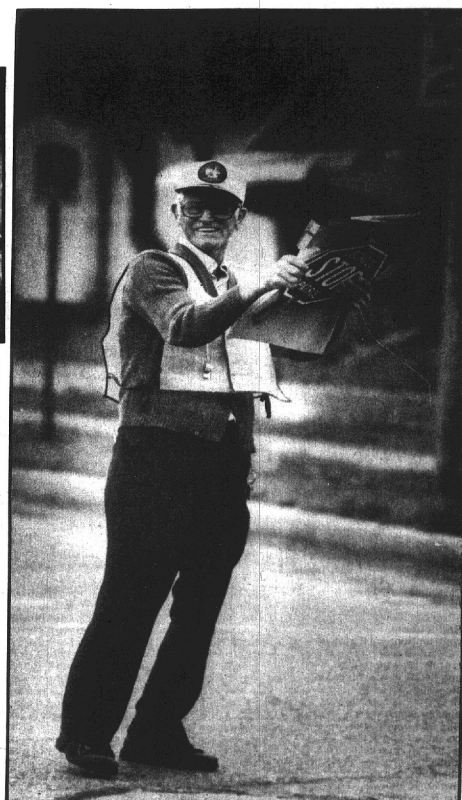

Photographs by Roger Kramer

The closing of Emerson Elementary School brought an end to the career of Stanley the Crossing Guard last Friday.

His real name is Stanley Hull, but for five years, two at McKinley Elementary School and three at Emerson, he was known by students, teachers and administrators as Stanley the Crossing Guard. Stanley chose to retire instead of going to the consolidated Prather-Logan Elementary School.

Principal Al Wilson and the students who crossed the street everyday wrote made cards to show their appreciation.

ENLISTS IN AIR FORCE 'DEP' PLAN

Scott Allen Hewlett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hewlett, 2236 Edison Ave., has enlisted in the U.S. Air Force's Delayed Enlistment Program today, according to Technical Sergeant Tom Slater, Air Force recruiter at 3875 Nameoki Road. Hewlett, a 1982 graduate of Granite City High School South, is scheduled for enlistment in the Regular Air Force on Sept. 21. Upon graduation from the Air Force's six-week basic training course, he is scheduled to receive technical training in the administrative career field.

Christian Science Church annual meet

Christian Science churches around the world have the opportunity this June to share the denomination's annual meeting season through a unique collaboration.

Instead of local Christian Scientists travelling to Boston for the June 6 meeting of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, 2560 Delmar Ave., will share a special videotaped discussion at the local church on June 6.

The hour-long commentary was prepared earlier this year at the denomination's international headquarters. It focuses on the church's wide-ranging efforts to meet the challenges of what it judges to be intensely materialistic times through revitalized commitment to spiritual values and Bible precepts.

Harvey W. Wood, 1983-84 chairman of The Christian Science Board of Directors, says he finds "an encouraging and growing commitment on the part of Christian Scientists to let their lives more than their words be the proof of what Christian Science is."

The Boston meeting, as the 104-year old denomination's Church Manual prescribes, consists of reports from church officers, committees, and branch churches in some of the 56 countries where the denomination is represented.

New Salem Baptist to lay cornerstone

The New Salem Baptist Church, 1349 Klein St., Venice, will host its cornerstone laying on Sunday, June 5, at 3:30 p.m., according to the Rev. John H. Williams, host pastor.

Guest speaker will be the Rev. Seamus Boyce, minister of the Memorial Baptist Church in St. Louis.

Immediately following the program the ceremony will be turned over to New Hope Masonic Lodge 22 Prince Hall.

Worshipful Master Albert Chambers of Unity Lodge of East St. Louis, will officially lay the cornerstone, Rev. Williams added.

Rev. Williams extends an invitation to the public to attend.

Graduation for pre-schoolers

Graduation ceremonies for the 1983 Pre-School senior class of City Temple Child Development Center, will be held at 5 p.m. Friday, June 3, at the church located at 4751 Maryville Road.

Wearing caps and gowns, each child will be presented with a diploma and have the opportunity to express their desires for the future, according to the school superintendent.

Refreshments will be served following the ceremony and address by the Rev. James Burnett.

Events planned for this month include trips to the St. Louis Zoo on June 6 and 7th, a flag day parade on June 14 and a field trip to the Dairy Queen on June 21.

Trips to the park and visits at the Granite City Public Library are a part of the children's regular schedule.

Last month the youngsters made oatmeal cookies, pizzas and tuna balls as well as creating Mothers Day cards. They also played host to the girls from Granite City High School South who visited the facility as a field trip event.

The staff at City Temple has grown to include Deanne Wilmsmeyer, a student majoring in Early Childhood Education at Lewis and Clark Community College, Becky Johnson, a SIUE graduate who majored in Special Education, and Pat Kalicki, the school's registered nurse.

After one year of service to the community, providing care for children ages 6-weeks through the sixth grade, the staff is planning to increase the educational aspects of the school and its activities, the superintendent added.

ALL THINGS ARE POSSIBLE

The Bible is explicit. "With God, all things are possible." For us to obtain this kind of faith, we must dwell on the ability of God. God can do all things. There is nothing impossible with God. Miracles are normal for our Heavenly Father. Do not try to comprehend how God does what He does, but accept the fact that He can do it.

We will help our faith if we keep our attention on God and not on our problems. If there is no solution to our problems, then worry and concern will do nothing to help. However, filling our minds, our thoughts, and our hearts with God's ability allows Him to supply all of our needs.

All things are possible with God for you.

Today.

EFFORT FOR UNEMPLOYED. James York, right, president of the International Chemical Workers Union Local 50, and Terrance M. Seabolt, vice president of industrial relations for Granite City Steel Division of National Steel Corp., give checks to Project Help Director George Cook, second from right. The funds will be used to buy food for the area's unemployed. Charles Hamilton, second from left, Local 50 business agent, observes the exchange.

Chemical workers give money to food plan for unemployed

Project Help, a food assistance program for the unemployed, was given a financial boost of $4,648 from the combined efforts of the International Chemical Workers Union Local 50 and Granite City Steel Division of National Steel.

George Cook, director of Project Help, announced the contributions on Monday. Local 50 contributed $2,500 from its treasury and another $1,074 received from steelworkers in a gate collection at the steel company's blast furnace area. Granite City Steel matched the $1,074 collection.

Project Help is an effort by Tri-City Area unions and churches to distribute food to the unemployed. The program was launched on March 1 and relies on voluntary food and money contributions. The group offers a three-day supply of food to each eligible family every 30 days.

In order to receive the food, an applicant: — Must be a member of a church or union that belongs to the Project Help network. — Must be unemployed 26 weeks in the last 12-month period.

— Must not be collecting full Supplemental Unemployment Benefits (SUB). This applies only to union members. — Must not be on extended vacation, if they are union members.

— Must work one day per month for Project Help. — Must fill in referral forms and sign release forms.

Organizations that belong to Project Help are the Tri-City Area United Way, Metropolitan Re-employment Development Project, Protestant Welfare Association and Catholic Charities.

Church groups that have joined the effort are Quad-City Church Women United, Niederrhein Methodist and First Presbyterian Church.

Units involved in the program are United Steelworkers of America Locals 67, 30, 1063, 4063, 4804, 68 and 16 and International Chemical Workers Locals 50 and 764.

Applicants must apply through one of the above groups. If a need is determined, applicants are then referred to the Protestant Welfare Association, which distributes the food. Project Help is a private program independent of Protestant Welfare's normal functions.

Food contributions may be delivered to the Protestant Welfare Association, 2053 Edison Ave., or residents may call 876-8770 for their food contributions to be picked up.

Cash contributions may be sent to Project Help, care of Church Women United, 2100 Lindell Blvd., or Project Help, care of Tri-Cities Area United Way, 2100 Edison Ave.

Persons interested in volunteering their services for Project Help or community organizations that wish to join the program should call either 876-8414 or 877-4470.

NOW to sponsor June 11 workshop on child support

The Tri-Cities chapter of the National Organization for Women is sponsoring a workshop on child support laws.

The workshop will be at the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Religious Center, Saturday, June 11, from 1 to 3 p.m.

NOW will provide child care and transportation and interested persons are requested to call Janice Stanfill at 1-656-8149 by June 7. Persons may call the number collect.

The workshop will focus on

CAR T-TOPS GONE

Two T-tops were stolen from a 1976 Grand Prix, owned by Richard Bricker of Cottage Hills, while the vehicle was parked outside 20 Nameoki Village, he reported Tuesday. A third T-top was taken from the car trunk, he advised. Value of the tops was $1,200.

READY FOR THE SHOW. Stan Fornaszewski prepares for the first Big Band Concert of the year, which will feature musicians from American Federation of Musicians, Local 717. The free public concerts are held in the various Granite City parks, each starting at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday's opening concert in Wilson Park features Fornaszewski and his 16-piece "Big Band Machine." Cheryl Thomason will sing with the band. They will perform near 27th Street and Delmar Avenue. There will be six concerts this year, rather than the five per year in the last two years, since the popular series started.

NEW OPERA TONIGHT

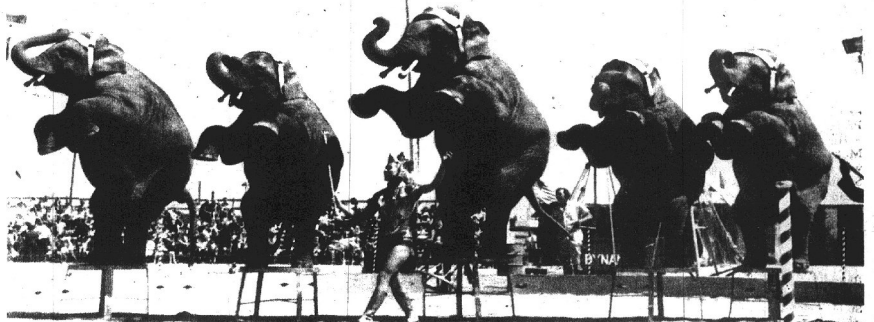

"Dragon," a new opera in two acts, by Stephen Brown and Paul Gaston, will be performed for the first time, in concert form, tonight 8-15 in the SIUE Communications Building theater. The cast includes Melanie Asadorian, local soprano who teaches at the Padua Performing Arts Center in Creve Coeur.

GAS, TIRES TAKEN

Gasoline and two tires and rims were stolen from a vehicle in a shed at the home of Richard Sutton, Box 937 Cate Brilliante, Mitchell, it was reported to Madison County sheriff's deputies Tuesday.

ITEMS MISSING

Elmer Meyer, 1926 Beckwith Ave., Madison, reported to police at 12:05 p.m. Tuesday that he noticed a rifle and lady's dinner ring were missing from his home on Friday.

PERFORMING ELEPHANTS will be one of the featured acts at the forthcoming Anad Shrine Circus scheduled for 7:30 p.m. on June 7, 8 and 9 at Tri-City Speedway, 5100 Nameoki Road. Elephants are primarily known for their size and few people know that although they are large and lumbering, elephants can move with amazing grace and speed. In spite of how fast they are moving, they will not step on a cord or chain or any other obstruction. These animals are intelligent and strong and are gifted with a highly developed sense of smell, and are irritated and angered by the scent of alcohol. At times they are like children and will be prankish.

Lisa Krieshok is honored

Miss Lisa Krieshok was guest of honor at a graduation party held at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Krieshok, 1115 Reynolds St., Madison.

The honoree received approximately 75 guests during the afternoon event. She is a Madison High School graduate.

SUMMER CELEBRATION at CHATEAU TOWNHOMES

Midwest Multi-Family, the apartment professionals, has just moved into the neighborhood with eight apartment communities located throughout the Madison County area.

To celebrate, we are having a fantastic summer celebration from May 27th to July 2nd at our new rental office in Chateau Townhomes, Bethalto. You are invited to stop by and take part in the festivities. While you are there, we'll acquaint you with our distinctive apartments and give you the unique opportunity to:

WIN A TWO BEDROOM TOWNHOME RENT-FREE FOR ONE YEAR!

Enter our rent-free townhome give-away by filling out an entry blank at Chateau Townhomes.

RECEIVE $200 IN CASH if you rent any one of our fine apartments during our celebration.

Take advantage of our "NO SECURITY DEPOSIT" program for qualified renters.

*Entries must be submitted by July 2, 1983.

Plus, just for visiting Chateau Townhomes during this event, you'll receive something special the whole family can enjoy.

Saturday, June 4 to Friday, June 10

Celebrate in Fashion with a FREE MIDWEST T-SHIRT (while supplies last)

Venice council approves several issues this week

By VALERIE EVENEDEN

of the Press-Record

The Venice City Council at its meeting Tuesday night approved the attendance of four members of the Venice Volunteer Fire Department at the 88th annual Illinois Fire College.

The event is taking place July through Sunday, June 5, at the University of Illinois at Champaign-Urbana.

Selected to attend this year are firefighters Ronald Brawley, Thomas Britt, Gary Wallace and David Levy.

In subsequent action, the Venice aldermen also approved expenses for City Treasurer J. Alan Gardner to attend the Illinois Municipal Treasurers' Association's ninth annual spring seminar at the Continental Regency Hotel in Peoria, scheduled June 24 and 25.

The two-day program will include an address by James Lincoln, director of Training Service at Northern Illinois University, whose topic will focus on a "Certification Program for Illinois Treasurers."

Also addressing the conference will be Art Laine and Robert Middleton, representing E. F. Hutton & Co., a national stockbrokerage firm; and Bree Hayes, director of the Consultation and Education Program, and Nancy A. Foltz, Community Services specialist, whose topic will deal with "Stress Management."

Other speakers will review a variety of subjects, including: "Audit Control—Hotel, Motel, Restaurant, Bar—Amusement Taxes"; "Budgeting and Bonding"; "Motor Fuel Tax"; and "District

Regionalization."

Mayor Tyrone Echols asked the aldermen to submit the names of 40 youngsters, 12 from each of the city's four wards, plus adult chaperones, for a special trip to an Almad Shrine Circus performance at the Tri-City Speedway, 5100 Nameoki Road.

A bus will leave the Venice City Hall at 6 p.m. June 7, for the circus outing, Mayor Echols said.

A resolution was adopted authorizing the installation of street lights at the rear of 1003 Bissell St., and 1033 Calhoun St., and the relocation of an existing light at the rear of 621 Mercedia Ave.

Venice Police Chief Farris Smith submitted a report for April, showing a check for $1,106 was paid to the city by Circuit Court Clerk Willard Portell for fines collected during the month.

During the month, a total of 42 males and nine females was arrested on 62 charges, mostly resulting from state and city traffic violations or ordinances.

Four persons were arrested on warrants and four on other police department reports, the report states.

Only one juvenile, a runaway, was taken into custody during April, the police chief advised.

Venice Superintendent of Streets Tom Scaturro reported the city's foraging machine has been repaired and will be operating in the city starting today.

Council members and other city officials were invited to attend a ceremony, commemorating the laying of the cornerstone at the New Salem Baptist Church educational building, which will take place at 3:30 p.m. Sunday at the church, 1340 Klein St.

The Rev. Seannas Boyce, pastor of deterioration and rent hikes in public housing at the city council's last meeting.

The mayor suggested all interested aldermen attend the tenants' meeting, especially those from the second and fourth wards where public housing complexes are located. A date has not yet been set, he added.

Albert Chambers, worshipful master of Unity Masonic Lodge of East St. Louis, will lay the cornerstone, according to the Rev. John Henry Williams, host pastor.

TV hike granted in some areas

The same $2 South-Western Cable TV, Inc., rate increase rejected by Granite City aldermen has recently been granted by two other neighboring communities served by the firm.

Maryville and Troy each approved a basic rate increase from $7 to $9 after reaching separate agreements with the cable company.

Despite South-Western's request for a similar $2 increase in Collinsville, aldermen instead approved last week a $1 raise, to be effective July 1. According to Collinsville Commissioner Mel Pannalot, if the cable firm is not satisfied, it could take the other $1 to arbitration.

Granite City aldermen also are waiting to see if South-Western will take to arbitration its local rejection of the fee request. South-Western has that option, according to the terms of its franchise with the city.

On May 24, the council here turned down the rate increase that the cable firm had coupled with a request for the city to give up its right to regulate basic cable fees. The city also would have received three percent of all South-Western's cable revenue here.

The Troy Council approved the increase after South-Western agreed to have all areas of the city connected to the cable service by Oct. 31.

Maryville Village Board voted for the rate request after 900 stickers have been purchased to date. Between 1,350 and 1,400 stickers are sold on an average each year.

Trucks and motorcycles also are required to have stickers displayed.

Stickers may be obtained between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. Mondays through Fridays at the office of Venice Commissioner Isaac Koelker in the Venice City Hall.

Brimberry house, slide show topic

A series of slides showing the interior of the Thomas R. Brimberry house on Parkview Drive will highlight a meeting of the Old Six Mile Historical Society at 7:30 p.m. Monday, June 6.

Mrs. Georgia Engele, program chairman, said the slides were obtained by a member of the group, which will meet Monday at St. John United Church of Christ.

When first constructed, the dwelling was estimated to have cost more than $1 million.

A former Stix & Co. vice president, Brimberry was found guilty May 25 of two counts of obstructing justice. The obstruction occurred during a federal investigation into theft of $16 million from the St. Louis stock brokerage firm, which collapsed in November 1981.

Helps victim in St. Louis

Richard L. Ramsey, 2251 Pontoon Road, was honored as a May nominee for the St. Louis Police Board of Commissioners' "Citizen of the Month" award.

The award commends Ramsey "for an outstanding contribution to law enforcement in the city of St. Louis."

Ramsey said the award was based on an incident occurring in the summer of 1981 when he assisted a woman purse-snatching victim. He and another man responded to the woman's calls and chased the robber to the Mississippi River front, where police took over the chase.

Ramsey received his award in ceremonies held at St. Louis Police Department headquarters.

Teacher pension concerns voiced

Legislation being considered by the Illinois General Assembly would damage the Illinois Teachers' Retirement System's (TRS) ability to guarantee secure retirement for downstate Illinois teachers. In the opinion of the TRS Board of Trustees, Anderson concluded, "The effects of this legislation coupled with recent large state funding cuts work to undermine the Teachers' Retirement System and keep it from carrying out its mandate — to provide Illinois teachers with a secure retirement."

The board voice opposition to passage of House Bills 1056 and 2290. "The TRS Board is unalterably opposed to them and their proposed raids on the funds of this system," said a resolution that was enacted. Bill 2290 is sponsored by House Speaker Michael Madigan. Both bills propose a portion of the system's funds be used for investments which would provide reduced rates of return to the retirement system. More than 100,000 downstate Illinois teachers contribute eight percent of their salaries to the system to help provide retirement income.

HB 1056 would use TRS dollars, as well as funds from four other state-financed retirement systems, to set up a program of low-interest loans for residential homebuyers.

HB 2290 would use retirement system funds to establish the Illinois Development Finance Authority.

"These bills provide only short-term, localized attempts to solve Illinois' economic problems, while passing on the far-reaching effects of a diminished retirement fund to coming generations of Illinois teachers."

"We applaud legislative efforts to bolster the economy, but not at the expense of Illinois teachers," said Samuel W. Anderson, TRS executive director.

"In April, the General Assembly voted to discontinue all further state funding for the system during 1983-84. It reduced the state's appropriation to about one-third of the actuarially-determined requirement for the system, shorting TRS about $23.5 million."

"This last cut in funding came on the heels of three years of steadily decreasing state appropriations for the system."

"The system and its members call on the Assembly to honor its legal and moral obligation, even in this diminished funding period, by allowing the system to invest funds in the manner which will bring the greatest possible return," the board's resolution said.
